Some Workers In Hungary Back on Jobs

Fear for Nation's Economy Said Cause Of End of Strike

VIENNA (AP)—Some Hungarian workers reportedly promised to return to their machines today to help lift their revolt-lattered country from economic chaos.

Success of the back-to-work movement was a paramount test of the Soviet-imposed regime of Premier Janos Kadar. Widespread dissatisfaction with Kadar's explanation of the disappearance of former Premier Imre Nagy cast doubt on its effectiveness.

The Budapest Central Workers' Council hinted at the prospect of further strikes if the government fails to meet its demands. The council ordered Budapest workers to return to their jobs but scheduled further negotiations with Kadar on the council's demand that Nagy be returned to power.

Strikes and slowdowns have paralyzed Hungary since the start of the anti-Soviet rebellion Oct. 23.

Nagy, a life-long Communist who came to power in the rebellion and tried to sever ties with Moscow, left refuge in the Yugoslav Embassy Thursday after Kadar promised he would be allowed to return safely to his home.

YUGOSLAVIA charged that Soviet secret police then kidnapped Nagy and 51 of his followers. Kadar insisted to the workers' council that the former premier had asked to leave Hungary for Romania and that his departure "does not mean exile."

"The government will not prosecute Nagy, although he made serious mistakes," Kadar said in a broadcast by Budapest radio.

Kadar promised to accede to the workers' demands after order is restored.

"Let's defeat the counter revolution with the help of the Soviets, restore order, start normal life. When this is all done, the government will start negotiations with the Soviets about the withdrawal (of Russian troops)," the premier said.

Nagy's disappearance created a new rift between Moscow and President Tito of Yugoslavia, whose embassy had guaranteed the Hungarian leader's safety.

To Western observers in the Soviet capital the differences between Moscow and Belgrade seemed to have gone beyond the possibility of immediate reconciliation.

Refugees continued to pour over the border into Austria despite gunfire of Russian troops. One man was carried across by friends with bullet holes in his lungs and stomach. The total who have fled to Austria reached more than 82,000 Sunday night. More than 15,000 had been funneled on to other countries.

Yugoslav sources reported authorities in Red Bulgaria were pressing a campaign of large-scale arrests to scare the population out of any attempt to launch a Hungarian-style revolt. The Belgrade reports said many persons have been sent to concentration camps and that the capital, Sofia, is heavily patrolled by police armed with tommy guns.

The Red regime in Poland, the Soviet Union's other independence-minded satellite, joined in Yugoslavia's disapproval of the Russian repression of the Hungarian revolt.

Skating Rink Says Fumes Eliminated

BATAVIA (AP)—Officials of a skating rink at nearby Bethel said Sunday night that corrective steps have been made to prevent recurrence of the carbon monoxide seepage that affected more than 30 patrons last Friday.

Vernon Brose, arena co-owner, said changing weather contributed to faulty working of a flue. Some skaters were treated at the rink, others were taken to nearby hospitals, but none of these was hospitalized. Two youths, more seriously affected than others, were taken to a Cincinnati hospital.

Longshoremen Return to Jobs

Ships Cargo Start Moving on East Coast

NEW YORK (AP)—Brigades of longshoremen—69,000 of them in ports from Maine to Texas—went back to work today, loosening the grip of a nine-day strike.

Ships and cargo, tied up during the period, started moving. In New York harbor, operations were described as back to normal.

A federal court restraining order issued Saturday ended the walkout for a temporary "cooling off" period.

Several thousand members of the striking International Longshoremen's Assn. hurried back to the piers over the weekend.

The strike started Nov. 15 in a contract dispute between the independent ILA and the New York Shipping Assn. The employers' group represents 170 shipping and stevedoring firms.

The walkout immobilized more than 200 ships in East and Gulf Coast ports and cost the national economy an estimated 20 million dollars a day.

LAST THURSDAY President Eisenhower initiated invocation of the Taft-Hartley law. He said continuation of the strike would "imperil the national health and safety."

The government injunction is for a 10-day period. Before the 10 days are up, the government is expected to press for extension of the order for the full 80-day "cooling off" period provided in the Taft-Hartley law.

ILA President William V. Bradley ordered his men back to work shortly after the injunction was issued.

The main issue in the dispute has been the union's demand for a single Atlantic and Gulf Coast contract with the shippers.

The shipping association insists it cannot sign a contract covering ports outside New York.

8 Jet Bombers Fly Non-Stop 17,000 Miles in 32½ Hours

BALTIMORE (AP)—U. S. air officials pointed today to the awesome flights of eight B52 jet bombers as proof of the nation's ability to deliver a nuclear knockout punch anywhere in the world.

The 14-ton, eight-engine B52s took off Saturday, four from the Air Force base at Castle, Calif., and four from the base at Loring, Maine. Before landing Sunday they had:

1. Completed non-stop flights of up to 17,000 miles over a 32½-hour stretch, more than eight hours longer than any other B52 had ever flown continuously.

2. Circled the North Pole at temperatures of 65 degrees below zero, reached speeds of "nearly 700 miles per hour" and maintained altitudes of "more than 35,000 feet."

More U. N. Troops Slated for Suez

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—A British-French decision to let U. N. police force units enter the Suez Canal zone by sea as well as by air promised today to speed the buildup of the Middle East peace patrol. But there still was no agreement on plans to replace the invaders with U. N. troops.

The decision to throw open Port Said to ships bringing in additional U. N. units was made at the request of Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the police force. He conferred here with British and French officers during a flying trip from Cairo.

Thus far the troops have been flown in by Swiss airliners from the crowded staging base at Capodichino, near Naples, Italy. They have been landing in small units at Abu Suweir near Ismailia on the Egyptian side of the cease-fire line.

The first seaborne units will be 700 Yugoslav troops, expected to land from three Yugoslav ships.

Lt. Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell, commander of the British-French invasion force, told newsmen the Yugoslavs would not remain in the northern third of the canal zone held by the British and French but would cross the cease-fire line to the Egyptian side.

STOCKWELL SAID that a plan to have the U. N. troops join British and French soldiers in patrols has been abandoned. This apparently was in keeping with efforts by allied and U. N. leaders to avoid any appearance of fraternization which might compromise the U. N. troops' neutral role.

In Belgrade, Borba, the official newspaper of President Tito's Communist party, denied another report that Yugoslav troops at Abu Suweir had been openly instructing Egyptian soldiers in the use of military equipment. Borba called the report slanderous, while declaring that it was "completely natural that our soldiers were warmly received by the Egyptians."

U. N. forces at Abu Suweir reached more than 1,000 over the weekend, and other arrivals were expected soon.

Britain pulled its first unit out of Egypt Saturday night when a battalion of 928 men sailed from Port Said for Cyprus. Israel claims it has withdrawn about 6,000 men, and France one-third of its forces in the area.

Vice Adm. Durnford Slater, naval commander for the British-French task force, said that the northern portion of the canal held by the Allies has been cleared sufficiently to admit vessels the size of a liberty ship—8,000 to 10,000 tons displacement.

He emphasized that this is true only for the portion of the canal under British-French control—about 27 miles of the 103-mile waterway.

11 Forest Fire Fighters Die in Inferno

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Eleven fire fighters burned to death Sunday night when they were trapped while battling a hot spot of the 33,000-acre Cleveland National Forest.

Forest supervisor Walter Puhn said eight of the men were inmates from the Vejas Honor Farm and the other three were U. S. Forest Service personnel.

Six other fire fighters managed to flee to safety. Puhn said, as lightning-fast flames swept up from the dry San Diego River bed near Eagle Peak, two or three miles above the El Capitan Reservoir. The scene is about 30 miles northeast of San Diego.

The fire, which started Saturday morning from a trash fire on the Inaja Indian reservation, is one of the worst in recent California history.

The most deadly forest fire in California occurred in 1933. A sudden shift in the wind trapped a fire fighting crew in a canyon near Los Angeles and 28 died.

The perimeter of the east-moving blaze is estimated to be 40 to 100 miles.

On the fire lines were 1,400 men, including 500 sailors from the San Diego Naval Training Center. Strong winds have hampered them from the start.

Cost of Living Hits New High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that living costs rose ½ to 1 per cent in October to another new record. It was the fourth new peak reached in a 1956 climb.

Nearly all consumer spending categories excepted went up in October. Food remained unchanged from September. Prices for new cars rose nearly 11 per cent in October, reflecting higher price tags on 1957 models.

The index kept by the Labor Department's Bureau of Statistics rose to 117.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average, the base period. This is ½ of 1 per cent higher than in September and 2.4 per cent above October last year.

Commissioners To 'OK' Petition For Annexation

Brownell; Other Land on Eastern Border Involved

A petition for annexation to the city of 63,304 acres of lots and lands on its eastern border, was before the county commissioners at their regular meeting in the Courthouse Monday.

Attorney Troy Junk, acting as agent for the 14 resident landowners signing the petition, was told by the commissioners that a resolution of approval by the board would be passed as soon as it was prepared.

No objections were filed at the hearing set for 10 a. m., and a copy of the resolution will be sent to the City of Washington C. H. where it will lie before the City Council for 60 days before the annexation can be finally acted upon.

THE PETITION signed by Mac Dews Jr., Fred Slavens, Howard Miller and others, covers the land and lots beginning at the city corporation line on Washington Ave. and extending eastward to the bridge over the east fork of Paint Creek, thence north to the property lines of the Story estate and the Ohio Water Service Co.

Included in the petition is the Henry Brownell Jr. subdivisions Nos. 1951 and 1952 and other property on the eastern side of Ely St.

The petition covers many lots where additional new residences are expected to be constructed during the coming year.

The usual weekly bills were approved and routine business was transacted at the Monday meeting.

Highway Lobbying Probe Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate investigating committee launches hearings today to scrutinize lobbying on the federal highway construction bill and to learn how political campaign funds were spent.

The inquiry is one of a series of the special committee has been conducting under a Senate resolution instructing it to search for evidence of any improper or illegal attempts to influence senators, Senate candidates, or officials in the executive branch of the government through lobbying or campaign contributions.

Miami Trace Board Awaits Suit Outcome Before Proceeding with Sale of Bonds

The Miami Trace District Board of Education is awaiting final outcome of pending litigation before proceeding with the sale of $1,632,500 in bonds for construction of a new high school and improvement of existing buildings, a board spokesman announced Saturday afternoon.

The bond issue was approved by district voters Nov. 6 by a favorable vote of 57.7 percent.

Board members at a meeting last week expressed themselves as favoring all possible steps to expedite the sale of the bonds, but no formal action was taken after Miss Grace Fern Heck, board legal counsel, suggested that it would be unwise to proceed further as long as litigation is pending.

THE TAXPAYER suit, filed last May 4, asks (1) that the Fayette County Board of Education be ordered to form a Citizens Committee to study school problems of Fayette County as a whole, including Washington C. H., and that (2) the transfer of Bloomingburg, Jefferson and Paint districts to Miami Trace District be invalidated.

In overruling a county board decision which argued that the facts presented by the taxpayers did not constitute a cause of action, Judge John H. Houston of Brown County, presiding over the case by assignment, has given the board leave to plead further on or before Nov. 28. In his ruling the judge said it was his opinion that the transfer of districts to Miami Trace District was legal.

U. N. Repeating Get-Out Demand

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. General Assembly kept up pressure today on Britain, France and Israel to pull out all the troops they still have in Egypt.

The Assembly scheduled a meeting to hear delegations explain their votes on two resolutions it adopted Saturday calling for withdrawal of the invaders' troops from Suez.

The withdrawal resolution, introduced by 20 Asian and African countries, passed 63-17 with 10 abstentions. It called on Britain, France and Israel to get their forces out of Egypt "forthwith." It asked Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to relay the demand urgently and report back "without delay."

Splitting again with its major allies, the United States voted for the proposal. Australia and New Zealand voted with Britain, France and Israel against it.

THE SECOND resolution was introduced by the United States along with Canada, Colombia, India, Norway and Yugoslavia. It was adopted 65-0 with the nine Soviet-bloc countries abstaining. It approved Hammarskjold's arrangements with Egypt for deploying a U. N. emergency force in that country to supervise the cease-fire and the troop withdrawals. It also authorized him to negotiate contracts to clear the Suez Canal, now blocked by ships and bridges wrecked during the military operations.

The Assembly's withdrawal demand was its fourth in three weeks, all approved by overwhelming votes.

So far, Israel says she has pulled about 6,000 troops out of Egypt. Britain sailed a battalion of 928 infantrymen from Port Said and the French claim they have withdrawn a third of their forces.

However, the three governments have announced no other concrete plans for troop evacuations.

With the Assembly's go-ahead for the canal clearance project, Hammarskjold pledged unstinted effort to get the job done "speedily and effectively." He announced appointment of three assistants for the project: retired U. S. Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, former Panama Canal maintenance engineer and engineering consultant to the World Bank; John J. McCloy, board chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York and former U. S. high commissioner in Germany; and Alfred G. Kotzin, a So African deputy undersecretary of the U. N.

Hammarskjold is already negotiating with Danish and Dutch firms to help in the clearance.

THE NIGHT martial law was declared, Damascus had its first "air raid." Thereafter the sirens wailed frequently.

So far as the frightened and unsophisticated population was concerned, the raids were real. The sandbagged and blacked-out buildings of Damascus heightened the illusion of imminent danger. Anti-aircraft batteries fired often.

The "air raids" also impressed on the public the need for continued martial law, which left the army in full control.

WHEN THE BIG crisis broke in Egypt, the civilian government ordered a military guard around the pumping stations for Iraq Petroleum Co. pipelines. That same night all three stations were blown up, halting the flow of Iraqi oil not only to the Mediterranean and Europe, but to Syria herself.

Iraqi Petroleum is owned by British, American, French and Dutch interests.

The press was deliberately blinded to the Soviet military subjugation of Hungary. Not a line of news from any Western source was carried by the press or radio. Only the Moscow radio and the Soviet official news agency Tass were quoted.

Phone Dispute Is Center of Special Demand

Governor Outlines History of Strike Against Company

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today urged a special session of the Ohio Legislature to authorize state seizure of truck utility firms to end a telephone black-out in southern Ohio.

"Ohio needs such a law," the governor said in his prepared request for power to restore telephone service in Portsmouth.

That Ohio River area has been without telephone service since Oct. 15 in a strike by Communication Workers of America against Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. The strike started July 15. The company serves 58,000 subscribers in 24 counties.

Lausche acted to end a company union deadlock in a contract dispute over such issues as union shop and union membership for supervisory employees, which occurred after General Telephone Co. acquired control of Ohio Consolidated.

"IT IS MY opinion," Lausche said, "that in spite of declarations to the contrary made respectively by the union and the company, Portsmouth and southern Ohio have been chosen as the battlegrounds upon which a national pattern with regard to General Telephone Co. will be established."

The governor declared that "it definitely appears that the company and the union intend to carry this fight to the finish, reflected by the refusal of either to make any concessions, on supposed major issues, in the period beginning on May 15 down to this day of Nov. 26, regardless of the impact that it has upon the health and the safety and the convenience of the citizens served by the communications system of the company."

The governor gave this summary of the dispute:

"The old contract provided for a union shop, the right of supervisory members to belong to the union, and was devoid of any provision against the right of the union to strike during the existence of the contract."

"On the one hand the company is seeking to withdraw these rights, while on the other the union is seeking their retention."

After 164 days of negotiations, it can be at this time definitely stated.

Weird West Virginia Case Closed; Confessions Shunned

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Little Billy Beaver's father didn't smother him, dismember his body and burn it, as he had "confessed."

Two-year-old Billy, missing from his crude log cabin home near here since last Wednesday, was found dead Sunday. Investigators said he died of exposure and his parents and grandmother, charged earlier with murdering him, will be released today.

Paul Harbour, a power company employee, discovered the body along a pipeline right-of-way about 1½ miles from the Beaver home, 20 miles east of Huntington.

Dr. Robert Barrett, Cabell County coroner, said examination showed the youngster, weighing an extraordinary 60 pounds for his age, had died of exposure in sub-freezing weather.

Sheriff H. D. Humphreys said the case was "closed."

The weird developments came after Humphreys announced Billy's father, 24-year-old James Beaver, had signed a statement saying he had smothered the boy, hacked up the body and burned it in an open fireplace.

The sheriff added that the statement said Beaver was helped by his 18-year-old wife and both acted at the point of a gun held by his 64-year-old mother, Mrs. Virginia Beaver.

The elder Mrs. Beaver also had contributed to the confusing aspects of the case by earlier making a statement that she clubbed Billy to death because "he got on my nerves."

Neither the parents nor the grandmother can read or write much, Humphreys said. Beaver was said to have attributed his bizarre statement to fear of authorities but insisted he had been treated kindly by investigators who directed the case.

In Belgrade, Borba, the official newspaper of President Tito's Communist party, denied another report that Yugoslav troops at Abu Suweir had been openly instructing Egyptian soldiers in the use of military equipment. Borba called the report slanderous, while declaring that it was "completely natural that our soldiers were warmly received by the Egyptians."

U. N. forces at Abu Suweir reached more than 1,000 over the weekend, and other arrivals were expected soon.

Britain pulled its first unit out of Egypt Saturday night when a battalion of 928 men sailed from Port Said for Cyprus. Israel claims it has withdrawn about 6,000 men, and France one-third of its forces in the area.

Vice Adm. Durnford Slater, naval commander for the British-French task force, said that the northern portion of the canal held by the Allies has been cleared sufficiently to admit vessels the size of a liberty ship—8,000 to 10,000 tons displacement.

He emphasized that this is true only for the portion of the canal under British-French control—about 27 miles of the 103-mile waterway.

11 Forest Fire Fighters Die in Inferno

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Eleven fire fighters burned to death Sunday night when they were trapped while battling a hot spot of the 33,000-acre Cleveland National Forest fire.

Forest supervisor Walter Puhn said eight of the men were inmates from the Vejas Honor Farm and the other three were U. S. Forest Service personnel.

Six other fire fighters managed to flee to safety, Puhn said, as lightning-fast flames swept up from the dry San Diego River bed near Eagle Peak, two or three miles above the El Capitan Reservoir. The scene is about 30 miles northeast of San Diego.

The fire, which started Saturday morning from a trash fire on the Inaja Indian reservation, is one of the worst in recent California history.

The most deadly forest fire in California occurred in 1933. A sudden shift in the wind trapped a fire fighting crew in a canyon near Los Angeles and 28 died.

The perimeter of the east-west blazing blaze is estimated to be 40 to 60 miles.

On the fire lines were 1,400 men, including 500 sailors from the San Diego Naval Training Center. Strong winds have hampered them from the start.

Cost of Living Hits New High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that living costs rose 1/2 to 1 per cent in October to another new record. It was the fourth new peak reached in a 1956 climb.

Nearly all consumer spending categories except went up in October. Food remained unchanged from September. Prices for new cars rose nearly 11 per cent in October, reflecting higher price tags on 1957 models.

The index kept by the Labor Department's Bureau of Statistics rose to 117.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average, the base period. This is 1/2 of 1 per cent higher than in September and 2.4 per cent above October last year.

Commissioners To 'OK' Petition For Annexation

Brownell; Other Land on Eastern Border Involved

A petition for annexation to the city of 63,304 acres of lots and lands on its eastern border, was before the county commissioners at their regular meeting in the Courthouse Monday.

Attorney Troy Junk, acting as agent for the 14 resident landowners signing the petition, was told by the commissioners that a resolution of approval by the board would be passed as soon as it was prepared.

No objections were filed at the hearing set for 10 a. m., and a copy of the resolution will be sent to the City of Washington C. H. where it will lie before the City Council for 60 days before the annexation can be finally acted upon.

Pro-Soviet Unit Controls Syria

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Egypt's crisis brought a silent coup to sister Syria.

The country was brought under martial law—proclaimed the day fighting broke out in Egypt. Control of the army, empowered to enforce the martial law, is in the hands of a group of pro-Soviet officers under the current strong man, Col. Abdul Hamid Saraj.

These officers are not Communists. But they place a high value on Soviet arms and Soviet political support. They permit no criticism of the Russians.

The night martial law was declared, Damascus had its first "air raid." Thereafter the sirens wailed frequently.

So far as the frightened and unsophisticated population was concerned, the raids were real. The sandbagged and blacked-out buildings of Damascus heightened the illusion of imminent danger. Aircraft batteries fired often.

The "air raids" also impressed on the public the need for continued martial law, which left the army in full control.

WHEN THE BIG crisis broke in Egypt, the civilian government ordered a military guard around the pumping stations for Iraq Petroleum Co. pipelines. That same night all three stations were blown up, halting the flow of Iraqi oil not only to the Mediterranean and Europe, but to Syria herself.

Iraqi Petroleum is owned by British, American, French and Dutch interests.

The press was deliberately blinded to the Soviet military subjugation of Hungary. Not a line of news from any Western source was carried by the press or radio. Only the Moscow radio and the Soviet official news agency Tass were quoted.

This was the work of Saraj. This colonel of about 32 is a nationalist in the style of Egypt's Gamel Abdel Nasser.

He is pro-Soviet in the sense that he places a high value on Soviet assistance. He is not considered pro-Communist.

Miami Trace Board Awaits Suit Outcome Before Proceeding with Sale of Bonds

The Miami Trace District Board of Education is awaiting final outcome of pending litigation before proceeding with the sale of $1,652,500 in bonds for construction of a new high school and improvement of existing buildings, a board spokesman announced Saturday afternoon.

The bond issue was approved by district voters Nov. 6 by a favorable vote of 57.7 per cent.

Board members at a meeting last week expressed themselves as favoring all possible steps to expedite the sale of the bonds, but no formal action was taken after Miss Grace Fern Heck, board legal counsel, suggested that it would be unwise to proceed further as long as litigation is pending.

THE TAXPAYER suit, filed last May 4, asks (1) that the Fayette County Board of Education be ordered to form a Citizens Committee to study school problems of Fayette County as a whole, including Washington C. H., and that (2) the transfer of Bloomingburg, Jefferson and Paint districts to Miami Trace District be invalidated.

In overruling a county board decision which argued that the facts presented by the taxpayers did not constitute a cause of action, Judge John H. Houston of Brown County, presiding over the case by assignment, has given the board leave to plead further on or before Nov. 28. In his ruling the judge said it was his opinion that the transfer of districts to Miami Trace District was legal.

U. N. Repeating Get-Out Demand

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. General Assembly kept up pressure today on Britain, France and Israel to pull out all the troops they still have in Egypt.

The Assembly scheduled a meeting to hear delegations explain their votes on two resolutions it adopted Saturday calling for withdrawal of the invaders' troops from Suez.

The withdrawal resolution, introduced by 20 Asian and African countries, passed 63-5 with 10 abstentions. It called on Britain, France and Israel to get their forces out of Egypt "forthwith."

It asked Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to relay the demand urgently and report back "without delay."

Splitting again with its major allies, the United States voted for the proposal. Australia and New Zealand voted with Britain, France and Israel against it.

THE SECOND resolution was introduced by the United States along with Canada, Colombia, India, Norway and Yugoslavia. It was adopted 65-0 with the nine Soviet-bloc countries abstaining. It approved Hammarskjold's arrangements with Egypt for deploying a U. N. emergency force in that country to supervise the cease-fire and the troop withdrawals. It also authorized him to negotiate contracts to clear the Suez Canal, now blocked by ships and bridges wrecked during the military operations.

The Assembly's withdrawal demand was its fourth in three weeks, all approved by overwhelming votes.

So far, Israel says she has pulled about 6,000 troops out of Egypt. Britain sailed a battalion of 928 infantrymen from Port Said and the French claim they have withdrawn a third of their forces.

However, the three governments have announced no other concrete plans for troop evacuations.

With the Assembly's go-ahead for the canal clearance project, Hammarskjold pledged unstinted effort to get the job done "speedily and effectively." He announced appointment of three assistants for the project: retired U. S. Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, former Panama Canal maintenance engineer and engineering consultant to the World Bank; John J. McCloy, board chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York and former U. S. high commissioner in Germany, and Alfred G. Kotzin, a So African deputy undersecretary of the U. N.

Hammarskjold is already negotiating with Danish and Dutch firms to help in the clearance.

Phone Dispute Is Center of Special Demand

Governor Outlines History of Strike Against Company

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today urged a special session of the Ohio Legislature to authorize state seizure of struck utility firms to end a telephone black-out in southern Ohio.

"Ohio needs such a law," the governor said in his prepared request for power to restore telephone service in Portsmouth.

That Ohio River area has been without telephone service since Oct. 15 in a strike by Communication Workers of America against Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. The strike started July 15. The company serves 58,000 subscribers in 24 counties.

Lausche acted to end a company union deadlock in a contract dispute over such issues as union shop and union membership for supervisory employees, which occurred after General Telephone Co. acquired control of Ohio Consolidated.

"IT IS MY opinion," Lausche said, "that in spite of declarations to the contrary made respectively by the union and the company, Portsmouth and southern Ohio have been chosen as the battlegrounds upon which a national pattern with regard to General Telephone Co. will be established."

The governor declared that "it definitely appears that the company and the union intend to carry this fight to the finish, reflected by the refusal of either to make any concessions, on supposed major issues, in the period beginning on May 15 down to this day of Nov. 26, regardless of the impact that it has upon the health and the safety and the convenience of the citizens served by the communications system of the company."

The governor gave this summary of the dispute:

"The old contract provided for a union shop, the right of supervisory members to belong to the union, and was devoid of any provision against the right of the union to strike during the existence of the contract."

"On the one hand the company is seeking to withdraw these rights, while on the other the union is seeking their retention. After 164 days of negotiations, it can be at this time definitely stated:

Phone Dispute

ed that practically no progress has been made toward a settlement.

Lausche said the company has taken the position that it would not restore service unless he sends the Ohio National Guard into the Portsmouth area. Ohio Consolidated closed its Portsmouth exchange after a series of rock-throwing incidents.

Lausche said 25 state highway patrolmen now are assigned to the Portsmouth area to help maintain law and order. He said a Portsmouth citizens' committee recommended use of the guard only as a "matter of last resort." The governor reiterated that he stood ready to call out the guard if necessary upon proper request.

"NO REQUEST by any of the local law enforcement officials has been made to me to supplement with the national guard the help provided by the highway patrol," Lausche told the General Assembly.

"In efforts to keep the company from operation, some members of the union, aided by cohorts, have damaged company buildings, communication lines, moto. vehicles and other personal property, inflicted injury on the persons of some of the company employees, and fired shots to intimidate the employees from working."

Lausche called the session after conferences failed to end a company-union deadlock over such issues as a union shop, classification of supervisory employees and arbitration under a strike ban.

Speaker Roger Cloud (R-Logan) said Lausche's proposal would be sent to the House Judiciary Committee for hearings after introduction at a short opening session.

He said the committee would question the Scioto County sheriff and police chiefs of Portsmouth and suburban New Boston about efforts to maintain law and order in those areas. Proponents and opponents of the measure also will testify while the Senate transacts preliminary business.

even if the special session failed to enact his proposal, the ground-work probably would be laid for such a law which he said was needed to deal with the telephone strike.

The measure would permit the state to seize and operate struck utility firms, except railroads and traction lines, with company or state employees. The proposal contained this clause for protection of workers:

"The status of no person as an employee of the public utility shall be affected by either his acceptance of employment by the state or his refusal of such employment."

Officials of the union and the telephone company opposed Lausche's proposal. And lawmakers of both parties expressed reluctance to act on the seizure proposal at a special session, saying such important legislation should be dealt with in the regular session opening Jan. 7.

Leaders expressed belief that even if the seizure proposal won approval, backers could not muster enough extra votes for an emergency clause to make it effective upon enactment. Without approval as an emergency measure.

Boy's Hand Hurt In Corn Sheller

Jimmie Duncan, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Duncan, Route 1, Jeffersonville, suffered a fracture and severe lacerations of the fourth finger on his right hand Sunday afternoon when he caught his hand in a corn sheller at the home of a neighbor.

The boy was treated at Memorial Hospital.

ure, such a law would not become effective for 90 days.

Emergency bills need a two-thirds vote in both the House and Senate for passage while regular measures require only a majority.

For 14 years Ohio Consolidated has had a contract with the CWA providing for a union shop. That contract expired July 15 and the union struck when the company said a new contract could not contain the union shop and 15 other items of the old pact.

A YEAR AGO General Telephone System bought Ohio Consolidated and other assets of the Theodore Gary utilities.

The union insists on keeping contract gains made over a period of years. Its leaders say, "We cannot accept so complete a retrogression from benefits our members have long enjoyed."

Clare Williams, president of both Ohio Consolidated and General Telephone Co. of Ohio, says none of General's other exchanges has union shop contracts and fringe benefits the CWA seeks to keep.

Efforts of local citizens, federal mediators, state officials and Gov. Lausche himself have failed either to end the strike or provide emergency telephone service to the Portsmouth area.

The company has promised to present by next Friday its "final" offer for settling the strike.

Lausche says the Portsmouth situation is "intolerable" because "the public is suffering the loss of telephone service because of this dispute which no one has been able to settle. There must be some way to protect the public."

Under the bill proposed by Lausche, the state would operate the crippled utility in a situation such as the current phone strike. Employees would continue with their right to strike against a utility management, but under state operation each striking employee would be invited to work temporarily for the state.

If sufficient regular employees could not be hired by the state, the state would recruit others to keep service going. At the end of the emergency, after the state had paid all expenses and collected all revenue from the utility's customers, it would retain 15 percent of the net profits for the state treasury and turn over 85 percent of the net to the utility as rent for the use of its facilities.

If the 15-85 percent figure could not be agreed upon satisfactorily between the state and the utility, either party could take the issue to court for final settlement financially.

Jury Seated In $50,000 Damage Suit

A jury of nine women and three men was seated Monday morning to hear the $50,000 damage suit of Wayne Adams, a minor, against Lowell Kaufman of the Greenfield Pike.

The suit, which was brought by Frank Adams of Greenfield on behalf of his 12-year-old son, is the outgrowth of an accident at the junction of the Robinson Rd. and E. Elm St. on Jan. 19, 1952, when the plaintiff, one of three minor boys riding on a tractor, was injured.

The petition alleges that the boys were employed by Kaufman, owner of the tractor which was driven by 15-year-old Norman Adams. Also riding on the tractor, the petition states, was Larry Adams, also 12 years old.

KAUFMAN'S responsibility is alleged in four specifications in the petition: 1. Ordering Norman to drive the tractor, 2. Employing Wayne, 3. Placing the tractor in charge of Norman and 4. Causing life and limb of Wayne to be endangered while in his employ.

The petition says that Wayne suffered permanent injury, including a broken leg, as well as pain and suffering.

In his answer, Kaufman denied most of the allegations in the suit.

The petition states that the three boys were taking the tractor to the McGee Ranch on the Robinson Rd. when the accident occurred.

In a companion suit, which is scheduled to come to trial later, Frank Adams asks $5,678 for medical care and loss of services of his son.

THE ENTIRE morning session of court was devoted to seating the jury of Mary Grim, Pearl M. Jordan, Marie Helfrich, Mildred Henkleman, Marie S. Smith, Vesta Bock, Edith Wolfe, Bess Seaman, Mabel Doughty, Lyman Fitzgerald, Delbert Beekman and Herbert Evans.

Ten other prospective jurors were either excused or removed for cause.

ed that practically no progress has been made toward a settlement.

Lausche said the company has taken the position that it would not restore service unless he sends the Ohio National guard to the Portsmouth area. Ohio Consolidated closed its Portsmouth exchange after a series of rock-throwing incidents.

Lausche said 25 state highway patrolmen now are assigned to the Portsmouth area to help maintain law and order. He said a Portsmouth citizens' committee recommended use of the guard only as a "matter of last resort." The governor reiterated that he stood ready to call out the guard if necessary upon proper request.

"NO REQUEST by any of the local law enforcement officials has been made to me to supplement with the national guard the help provided by the highway patrol," Lausche told the General Assembly.

"In efforts to keep the company from operation, some members of the union, aided by cohorts, have damaged company buildings, communication lines, moto. vehicles and other personal property, inflicted injury on the persons of some of the company employees, and fired shots to intimidate the employees from working."

Lausche called the session after conferences failed to end a company-union deadlock over such issues as a union shop, classification of supervisory employees and arbitration under a strike ban.

Speaker Roger Cloud (R-Logan) said Lausche's proposal would be sent to the House Judiciary Committee for hearings after introduction at a short opening session.

He said the committee would question the Scioto County sheriff and police chiefs of Portsmouth and suburban New Boston about efforts to maintain law and order in those areas. Proponents and opponents of the measure also will testify while the Senate transacts preliminary business.

even if the special session failed to enact his proposal, the ground-work probably would be laid for such a law which he said was needed to deal with the telephone strike.

The measure would permit the state to seize and operate struck utility firms, except railroads and traction lines, with company or state employees. The proposal contained this clause for protection of workers:

"The status of no person as an employee of the public utility shall be affected by either his acceptance of employment by the state or his refusal of such employment."

Officials of the union and the telephone company opposed Lausche's proposal. And lawmakers of both parties expressed reluctance to act on the seizure proposal at a special session, saying such important legislation should be dealt with in the regular session opening Jan. 7.

Leaders expressed belief that even if the seizure proposal won approval, backers could not muster enough extra votes for an emergency clause to make it effective upon enactment. Without approval as an emergency measure.

Boy's Hand Hurt In Corn Sheller

Jimmie Duncan, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Duncan, Route 1, Jeffersonville, suffered a fracture and severe lacerations of the fourth finger on his right hand Sunday afternoon when he caught his hand in a corn sheller at the home of a neighbor.

The boy was treated at Memorial Hospital.

ure, such a law would not become effective for 90 days.

Emergency bills need a two-thirds vote in both the House and Senate for passage while regular measures require only a majority.

For 14 years Ohio Consolidated has had a contract with the CWA providing for a union shop. That contract expired July 15 and the union struck when the company said a new contract could not contain the union shop and 15 other items of the old pact.

A YEAR AGO General Telephone System bought Ohio Consolidated and other assets of the Theodore Gary utilities.

The union insists on keeping contract gains made over a period of years. Its leaders say, "We cannot accept so complete a retrogression from benefits our members have long enjoyed."

Clare Williams, president of both Ohio Consolidated and General Telephone Co. of Ohio, says none of General's other exchanges has union shop contracts and fringe benefits the CWA seeks to keep.

Efforts of local citizens, federal mediators, state officials and Gov. Lausche himself have failed either to end the strike or provide emergency telephone service to the Portsmouth area.

The company has promised to present by next Friday its "final" offer for settling the strike.

Lausche says the Portsmouth situation is "intolerable" because "the public is suffering the loss of telephone service because of this dispute which no one has been able to settle. There must be some way to protect the public."

Under the bill proposed by Lausche, the state would operate the crippled utility in a situation such as the current phone strike. Employees would continue with their right to strike against a utility management, but under state operation each striking employee would be invited to work temporarily for the state.

If sufficient regular employees could not be hired by the state, the state would recruit others to keep service going. At the end of the emergency, after the state had paid all expenses and collected all revenue from the utility's customers, it would retain 15 per cent of the net profits for the state treasury and turn over 85 per cent of the net to the utility as rent for the use of its facilities.

If the 15-85 per cent figure could not be agreed upon satisfactorily between the state and the utility, either party could take the issue to court for final settlement financially.

Jury Seated In $50,000 Damage Suit

A jury of nine women and three men was seated Monday morning to hear the $50,000 damage suit of Wayne Adams, a minor, against Lowell Kaufman of the Greenfield Pike.

The suit, which was brought by Frank Adams of Greenfield on behalf of his 12-year-old son, is the outgrowth of an accident at the junction of the Robinson Rd. and E. Elm St. on Jan. 19, 1952, when the plaintiff, one of three minor boys riding on a tractor, was injured.

The petition alleges that the boys were employed by Kaufman, owner of the tractor which was driven by 15-year-old Norman Adams. Also riding on the tractor, the petition states, was Larry Adams, also 12 years old.

KAUFMAN'S responsibility is alleged in four specifications in the petition: 1. Ordering Norman to drive the tractor, 2. Employing Wayne, 3. Placing the tractor in charge of Norman and 4. Causing life and limb of Wayne to be endangered while in his employ.

The petition says that Wayne suffered permanent injury, including a broken leg, as well as pain and suffering.

In his answer, Kaufman denied most of the allegations in the suit.

The petition states that the three boys were taking the tractor to the McGee Ranch on the Robinson Rd. when the accident occurred.

In a companion suit, which is scheduled to come to trial later, Frank Adams asks $5,678 for medical care and loss of services of his son.

THE ENTIRE morning session of court was devoted to seating the jury of Mary Grim, Pearl M. Jordan, Marie Helfrich, Mildred Henkleman, Marie S. Smith, Vesta Bock, Edith Wolfe, Bess Seaman, Mabel Doughty, Lyman Fitzgerald, Delbert Beekman and Herbert Evans.

Ten other prospective jurors were either excused or removed for cause.

Witnesses called by the plaintiff are Wayne Adams, Larry Adams, Mrs. Katherine Adams, Phyllis

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: For several years I've been in a state of indecision about religion, and have finally decided to make a total and permanent commitment.

In the course of my search for a faith, many persons have been helpful, inspirational and patient, in guiding me to my goal. And now I am wondering if it would be proper to invite them to the ceremony, at which I will make the promises required of a convert?

The friends I have in mind include a cleric from whom I took instructions five years ago; a woman now in religious work, who was a classmate of mine; an Army officer with whom I have worked; a very sweet girl of a different race, who is a chemist; a college professor—and also the dean of the college, who is probably unaware of the influence that his sure faith has had on my life.

This is to be a very solemn occasion for me; not for "show." Would it be better if I wrote these people a little note? If so, what should I say?

F. S.

DEAR F. S.: It is my impression that you feel so shy, and so lacking in savoir faire as you approach this new commitment, that you hardly dare ask questions concerning the informal rules of social fellowship that customarily surround the religious ritual. It seems you suffer an almost child-like embarrassment concerning your innocent lack of social know-how.

Therefore, may I put your mind at rest, with this information: The mannerly, sensible, grown-up way to obtain exact advice about the propriety of asking friends to a convert ceremony is simply to clear the matter with your immediate spiritual counselor.

Presumably you are making arrangements through a pastor, or the pastor's assistant, to be received into the church of your choice—either as a member of a convert group; or perhaps in a private individual ceremony. I can't think how else you could go about it. And, in either case, you will want to follow the usual practice in that particular congregation. And the way to find out is to ask the churchman in charge of your admission.

Now, regarding the form of invitation: It would seem natural and right to telephone those persons to whom you feel really close and write to the others, whom you like and respect and feel grateful to—but don't know so well.

Thus you might telephone the former classmate, also the cleric from whom you took religious instructions five years ago (identifying yourself afresh, if necessary); also the girl chemist. The Army officer, the college professor and the college dean qualify for a slightly more formal invitation from a married woman.

As for what to say, try the following outline for the telephone: "This is Frances Smith and I am going to be received into such-and-such church on Sunday, December 2nd, in a (private or group) ceremony at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. I am asking a few friends to be there, and I specially want you to come." Then any other friendly words that come to your mind; and sign off.

The written invitation might be similarly phrased, as for example: "Dear So-and-So: Because you are one whose fine life and inspiring example have played an influential part in my finding a faith, I want you to know that I am going to be received into such-and-such Church on Sunday, December 2nd, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. And I would be so happy if you could be present. Do let me know."

Inlaw Is Accused In Stabbing Case

LANCASTER (AP) — A 35-year-old man accused of stabbing his brother-in-law to death was held today in Fairfield County jail after a week-long search for him in Ohio and West Virginia ended with his arrest Saturday.

Harold Foster Brown, charged with the first degree murder of Mahlon S. E. Jeffries in a fight Nov. 16, was picked up by officers in St. Clairsville.

His sister, Betty Jeffries, 33, said her brother and her husband were involved in a fight on a road near here and that Brown stabbed Jeffries, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Jack Bleazer.

'Fierce' Demand Seen Ahead For Steel Plate Supplies

CLEVELAND (AP) — A tanker-building program sparked by the Suez Canal crisis will in the months ahead make competition for steel plates "more fierce," Steel Magazine said today.

Even without the problems in the Middle East the demand for plates has been outrunning supplies, the weekly metalworking journal said. The same is true for structural shapes, it added. "Steel" said 23 tankers are under construction or on order, and application has been made to the U. S. Maritime Commission for authority to construct another 31, and President Eisenhower wants still another 50 built.

"The Suez crisis will make certain that at least half the vessels will be built," the magazine said. "Fifty tankers in the government portion of the program alone would take 750,000 tons of plates and another 250,000 tons of other steel products."

One effect may be to speed up requests for fast tax amortization of new facilities for producing plates and a temporary sheathing of such requests for facilities making other steel products, "Steel" said.

The national output of steel for the week ended Nov. 25 was 2,742,202 net tons, which represents 100.5 per cent of rated capacity, "Steel" reported. Scrap prices moved up 50 cents to $62 a ton last week, but there appears to be "no danger of a pinch in domestic supplies," the magazine said.

Soviet Withdrawal

COLUMBUS (AP) — The ranking GOP member of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs predicts that Russia will withdraw her troops from Hungary.

U. S. Rep. John M. Vorys (R-Ohio) said he thought it likely that "Russia will remove its troops before the UN sets economic sanctions" against her.

Vorys, who spoke here Sunday also said changes behind the Iron Curtain and increased UN powers have "lessened the chances for war."

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: For several years I've been in a state of indecision about religion, and have finally decided to make a total and permanent commitment.

In the course of my search for a faith, many persons have been helpful, inspirational and patient, in guiding me to my goal. And now I am wondering if it would be proper to invite them to the ceremony, at which I will make the promises required of a convert?

The friends I have in mind include a cleric from whom I took instructions five years ago; a woman now in religious work, who was a classmate of mine; an Army officer with whom I have worked; a very sweet girl of a different race, who is a chemist; a college professor—and also the dean of the college, who is probably unaware of the influence that his sure faith has had on my life.

This is to be a very solemn occasion for me; not for "show." Would it be better if I wrote these people a little note? If so, what should I say?

F. S.

DEAR F. S.: It is my impression that you feel so shy, and so lacking in savoir faire as you approach this new commitment, that you hardly dare ask questions concerning the informal rules of social fellowship that customarily surround the religious ritual. It seems you suffer an almost child-like embarrassment concerning your innocent lack of social know-how.

Therefore, may I put your mind at rest, with this information: The mannerly, sensible, grown-up way to obtain exact advice about the propriety of asking friends to a convert ceremony is simply to clear the matter with your immediate spiritual counsellor.

Presumably you are making arrangements through a pastor, or the pastor's assistant, to be received into the church of your choice—either as a member of a convert group; or perhaps in a private individual ceremony. I can't think how else you could go about it. And, in either case, you will want to follow the usual practice in that particular congregation. And the way to find out is to ask the churchman in charge of your admission.

Now, regarding the form of invitation: It would seem natural and right to telephone those persons to whom you feel really close and write to the others, whom you like and respect and feel grateful to—but don't know so well.

Thus you might telephone the former classmate, also the cleric from whom you took religious instructions five years ago (identifying yourself afresh, if necessary); also the girl chemist. The Army officer, the college professor and the college dean qualify for a slightly more formal invitation from a married woman.

As for what to say, try the following outline for the telephone: "This is Frances Smith and I am going to be received into such-and-such church on Sunday, December 2nd, in a (private or group) ceremony at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. I am asking a few friends to be there, and I specially want you to come." Then any other friendly words that come to your mind; and sign off.

The written invitation might be similarly phrased, as for example: "Dear So-and-So: Because you are one whose fine life and inspiring example have played an influential part in my finding a faith, I want you to know that I am going to be received into such-and-such church on Sunday, December 2nd, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. And I would be so happy if you could be present. Do let me know."

Inlaw Is Accused In Stabbing Case

LANCASTER (AP) — A 35-year-old man accused of stabbing his brother-in-law to death was held today in Fairfield County jail after a week-long search for him in Ohio and West Virginia ended with his arrest Saturday.

Harold Foster Brown, charged with the first degree murder of Mahlon S. E. Jeffries in a fight Nov. 16, was picked up by officers in St. Clairsville.

His sister, Betty Jeffries, 33, said her brother and her husband were involved in a fight on a road near here and that Brown stabbed Jeffries, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Jack Bleazer.

'Fierce' Demand Seen Ahead For Steel Plate Supplies

CLEVELAND (AP) — A tanker-building program sparked by the Suez Canal crisis will in the months ahead make competition for steel plates "more fierce," Steel Magazine said today.

Even without the problems in the Middle East the demand for plates has been outrunning supplies, the weekly metalworking journal said. The same is true for structural shapes, it added. "Steel" said 23 tankers are under construction or on order, application has been made to the U. S. Maritime Commission for authority to construct another 31, and President Eisenhower wants still another 50 built.

"The Suez crisis will make certain that at least half the vessels will be built," the magazine said. "Fifty tankers in the government portion of the program alone would take 750,000 tons of plates and another 250,000 tons of other steel products."

One effect may be to speed up requests for fast tax amortization of new facilities for producing plates and a temporary sheathing of such requests for facilities making other steel products, "Steel" said.

The national output of steel for the week ended Nov. 25 was 2,742,202 net tons, which represents 100.5 per cent of rated capacity, "Steel" reported. Scrap prices moved up 50 cents to $62 a ton last week, but there appears to be "no danger of a pinch in domestic supplies," the magazine said.

Soviet Withdrawal

COLUMBUS (AP) — The ranking GOP member of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs predicts that Russia will withdraw her troops from Hungary.

U. S. Rep. John M. Vorys (R-Ohio) said he thought it likely that "Russia will remove its troops before the UN sets economic sanctions" against her.

Vorys, who spoke here Sunday also said changes behind the Iron Curtain and increased UN powers have "lessened the chances for war."

Better Listen To The "Shop Early" Cry This Year

Each year at this time merchants of Washington C. H. and those with stores in other parts of Fayette County are telling the public "shop early and avoid the Christmas rush."

All across our nation this cry is now heard as a bit of good advice to the shoppers who often wait until the last few days before Christmas to take the action they all knew they should have taken weeks earlier.

This year, it appears this "shop early" warning seemingly is more urgent than ever. Christmas sales, according to the experts on such matters, including the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, are predicting Christmas sales, excluding auto sales, will total more than seven per cent above those of the 1955 season. This would be an all-time record.

The dollar total for November and December is forecast at $31.1 billion. The Chamber also observed that the 1956 retail boom is healthier than last year's, reflecting a more normal expansion in population and personal income.

This season the millions of people who flock through America's retail stores, in search of either holiday gifts or the routine things we buy at all seasons, will be offered an almost bewildering assortment of wares from which to choose. They will see the best and most attractive standards of display, sanitation, advertising and promotion.

They will, with few exceptions, be met by friendly, courteous and helpful sales people. They will — unless their wants are unusual indeed — find exactly what they are looking for.

People would do well to consider what has made all this abundance possible. The most important force in that has been the competitive, free enterprise system, in which no one has a monopoly on anything and in which the rewards go to those who please the public most, and who offer the best value for the dollar.

It is to be noted that the stores of this community are alert to this situation and have made adequate preparation for meeting the Christmas demands.

438 Million Gripes Listed

NEW YORK (AP)—Do you like to feel sorry for yourself?

Many people seem to, but today they have a special problem. Things have gone so well in 1956 the average American finds it a little hard to find anything to be ungrateful about.

But by just sitting down and doing a little steady brooding you ought to be able to find a personal dark cloud behind all that silver lining.

Need a little help? Well, let's explore the picture:

At least 250,000 Americans are in jail who think they ought to be out.

At least 750,000 Americans who are out of jail know darned well they ought to be in one.

At least 10 million Americans right now either have a cold, are getting one, or recovering from one.

At least one million Americans are driving around and around and around looking for a little parking space that isn't there.

At least 21 million Americans feel they aren't getting the salary they deserve.

At least 22 million other Americans are afraid the boss will find out he's actually paying them more than they are worth.

At least five million young maids are afraid they'll become old maids.

At least five million young bachelors are fearful they won't get to become older bachelors.

At least three million American wives are regretfully sure they married the wrong husband.

At least three million American husbands agree with them.

At least 25 million Americans worry because they are overweight.

At least five million Americans worry because they are underweight.

At least two million American teenagers think their parents are a mistake.

At least four million parents have the same idea about their teenagers.

At least 30 million Americans are suffering from rheumatism, falling hair, falling arches, drippy sinuses, insomnia, failing eyesight, or false teeth they inherited and that don't fit properly.

At least 30 million Americans are troubled by what sex is.

At least 30 million Americans are troubled by what it isn't.

At least 15 million Americans are troubled because it just ain't.

At least 10 million Americans

are sure they'd be happier if they had other jobs.

At least 20 million Americans feel they owe more than they can afford.

At least one million Americans are owed money by bums they feel will never repay them.

At least one million farmers are mad because they don't live in the city.

At least two million city dwellers are made because they don't live in the country.

At least three million suburbanites are made because—well, as the saying goes, you don't have to be mad to be a suburbanite, but it sure does help.

At least 10 million American husbands complain they'll never be able to get a magazine article read in peace until they get another bathroom in the house.

At least 99 million Americans are grumpy for personal reasons, such as high taxes.

Add up all these malcontents, and you get 438 million Americans, or more than 2½ times the actual population of the country, with something to gripe about.

If you really enjoy being miserable, don't let anybody talk you out of it. Fight down any feeling of appreciation.

After all, it's a free country.

Communism in Hawaii

The Republicans were anxious to have Hawaii admitted to statehood because they believed that it would give them two additional Republican senators. The Democrats favored admitting Alaska to statehood as that would give them two additional Democratic senators. As this produced a stand-off, nothing happened.

But the fact is that had Hawaii been granted statehood, the two senators might have been neither Republicans nor Democrats but Communists. For that lovely Polynesian area has become a pest-hole of Communist infiltration and is controlled by Harry Bridges as though he were governor-general of the satrapy.

It is for this reason that the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has already made a preliminary study of the Hawaiian Islands and is about to hold hearings there. It is to be remembered that Pearl Harbor is situated in the Hawaiian Islands and that they are the first line of defense of continental United States.

The principal sources of Communist strength in Hawaii are the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the United Public Workers. These two unions dominate the economic and public life of the area, including radio stations and other means of communications.

Curiously, the ILWU does not limit itself to longshoremen, but includes agricultural workers in the pineapple and sugar plantations which are the principal industries of the area. The population is mixed, mainly Oriental, with few emotional ties to the United States.

The leader of the ILWU in Hawaii is Jack Hall who was convicted under the Smith Act in 1953. William B. Stephenson, chairman of the Commission on Subversive Activities of the Territory of Hawaii, has stated:

"In speaking of the control which Communist leaders exert in the ILWU, the commission has pointed out that if this control were exercised contrary to the best interests of the United States it could not only bring about economic chaos in Hawaii but could adversely affect the war potential and the national security of the United States.

Moreover, the commission has pointed out that continuing communist control over the ILWU in Hawaii will endanger the national security of the United States in the event of war between this country and the Soviet Union."

The United States Navy apparently has been forced by circumstances to take cognizance of the enormous power of the ILWU, since it has ceased to employ workers of this union at the Pearl Harbor Navy Yard and has organized its own stevedoring service with Civil Service status.

The United Public Workers solicits membership among government employees and the employees of educational institutions and hospitals and related forms of employment. The Hawaiian Commission on Subversive Activities has found that:

"... The United Public Workers was controlled by the Communist party, that the Communist party has exploited the UPW and its membership primarily for Communist purposes, and that in conflicts of interest between the Communist party and the rank and file membership of the union, the Communist interest has prevailed.

"The commission has also stated its opinion that the Communist control of this union presents a potential grave security problem in case of a national emergency, and that this problem has been intensified by the coalition of the communist leadership of the United Public Workers with the Communist leadership of the ILWU."

In a word, the United States government staff in Hawaii is under the control of a union that has been declared Communist-dominated and under leaders, some of whom have been convicted of seeking to overthrow the government of the United States.

When the record is studied, it is evident that it is not a pretty picture at all and that while the United States government was either asleep or buried under a heap of words, the Communists were making the Hawaiian Islands their own bailiwick and that if Hawaii were admitted to statehood, we might even get as United States senators, appointees of the Kremlin or of Red China.

It is bad enough to have erstwhile Communist stooges or converts from such causes in our national legislature but somehow we have managed to avoid an overt Kremlin agent. Even that is possible, via Hawaii.

It is expected that the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee

By George Sokolsky

will turn up a sensational situation in Hawaii which will have a profound effect upon Hawaii's chance of being admitted to statehood.

Christmas Eve Holiday Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has ordered a Christmas Eve holiday for federal employees.

The action gives them a four-day Christmas holiday since Christmas falls on a Tuesday.

The President's memorandum also directed federal executives to adopt "a liberal policy for the granting of annual leave" during the holiday season. The White House pointed out that this means, for example, that many employees who wish may have another long New Year weekend.

How To Protect Food In A-Bomb Attack

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

There has been a lot of talk about how we can protect our food supplies from the hazards of radioactive fallout in the event of an atomic bomb attack.

The simple truth is that most of the food stored in your home probably would be perfectly safe, especially if it is kept in a freezer.

Frozen Foods

Frozen foods probably are the most well-protected. If their packaging was not broken, they would be entirely edible even after an A-bomb attack. They are also protected fairly well from contamination by chemical or biological agents.

The Federal Civil Defense Administration delved into the ability of such foodstuffs to withstand an A-bombing in tests conducted in Nevada.

Sealed cans, the Defense Department says, afford complete protection against radioactive dust, biological organisms, liquids and vapors.

Metal foil and cellophane packaging also provide complete protection — providing the cellophane has been kept dry and all joints are tight.

Ordinary paper containers, the U. S. Public Health Service reports, provide only poor to good protection against these four types of contamination.

However, put any of these foods in a home freezer or commercial freezer warehouse and protection is near perfect.

Contaminating Agents

The nature of home freezing units and commercial warehouses generally is assurance that no known contaminating agents will be able to penetrate to the individual food packages.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Marshal Tito is feeling his oats.

First the Yugoslav president hurled at the Kremlin the label "Stalinist"—a swear word in the Communist world today. At the same time he called on the Russians to grant all the satellites the sort of freedom Yugoslavia years ago won for itself.

Then Tito accused the Kremlin of kidnapping ex-Premier Imre Nagy of Hungary. Nagy and a group of officials were snatched by Russians as they left the Yugoslav Embassy in Budapest.

And what was the Kremlin's reaction to this tough talk from its off-again, on-again friend Tito? The usual name calling and threats of reprisal?

Not Quite. They took six pages of Pravda to defend themselves on the Stalinism and satellite charges. They did ask Tito to lower his voice lest he play into the hands of "imperialist and fascist elements."

And then, most interestingly, they accused Tito—though in fairly mild language — of spreading the idea that "Yugoslavia's path to socialism is the only true and even the only possible path for socialist development in almost all countries."

How times change.

This is just what Tito was charging the Russians with doing when he broke with them during the Stalin regime. Only, he was complaining, of course, that it was the Kremlin which was taking the our-way-is-the-only-way line.

Tito himself came up with some interesting thoughts.

He said the Russians were wrong to intervene in the Hungarian revolt. But he adds in the next breath: "If with their intervention they saved socialism in Hungary, it was necessary and all this will one day become positive."

In other words: You shouldn't have done it but if it turns out all right for our side you did the right thing.

Tito was talking about the first clashes in Hungary, at a time when one Communist regime or another would have held power no matter who won.

He holds the Kremlin as dead right, though, in slaughtering Hungarians by the thousands when it looked as if "reactionaries" were moving in.

You can see his reasoning there, even though you deplore it: if Hungary can get away with de-throning a Communist government what's to stop other countries from doing it, too? Yugoslavia, for example.

Unquestionably there's a rift between Belgrade and Moscow.

Associated Press correspondent Harold Mills reported from Moscow Sunday night that the Nagy

By Ed Creagh
For James Marlow

affair may have widened the rift "beyond the possibility of immediate reconciliation."

Tito fired a whip-sharp protest to Budapest over Nagy's disappearance.

He sent an almost identical note to Moscow saying he expects the Kremlin to do "everything necessary" to get the safe conduct agreement carried out. Moscow hasn't replied yet but her answer can hardly be anything other than some form of Who, me? Tito has made it plain he means: Yes, you. He isn't buying for a minute the Budapest legend that Nagy and his friend scooted off to Romania of their own volition. Outside the ranks of Kremlin supporters, nobody else is buying it, either.

At least 750,000 Americans who are out of jail know darned well they ought to be in one.

At least 10 million Americans right now either have a cold, are getting one, or recovering from one.

At least one million Americans are driving around and around and around looking for a little parking space that isn't there.

At least 21 million Americans feel they aren't getting the salary they deserve.

At least 22 million other Americans are afraid the boss will find out he's actually paying them more than they are worth.

At least five million young

At least five million young bachelors are fearful they won't get to become older bachelors.

At least three million American wives are regretfully sure they married the wrong husband.

At least three million American husbands agree with them.

At least 25 million Americans worry because they are overweight.

At least five million Americans worry because they are underweight.

At least two million American teenagers think their parents are a mistake.

At least four million parents have the same idea about their teenagers.

At least 30 million Americans are suffering from rheumatism, falling hair, falling arches, drippy sinuses, insomnia, failing eyesight, or false teeth they inherited and that don't fit properly.

At least 20 million Americans are troubled by what sex is.

At least 30 million Americans are troubled by what it isn't.

At least 15 million Americans are troubled because it just ain't.

At least 10 million Americans

are sure they'd be happier if they had other jobs.

At least 20 million Americans feel they owe more than they can afford.

At least one million Americans are owed money by bums they feel will never repay them.

At least one million farmers are mad because they don't live in the city.

At least two million city dwellers are made because they don't live in the country.

At least three million suburbanites are made because—well, as the saying goes, you don't have to be made to be a suburbanite, but it sure does help.

At least 10 million American husbands complain they'll never be able to get a magazine article read in peace until they get another bathroom in the house.

At least 99 million Americans are grumpy for personal reasons, such as high taxes.

Add up all these malcontents, and you get 438 million Americans, or more than 2½ times the actual population of the country, with something to gripe about.

Communism in Hawaii

The Republicans were anxious to have Hawaii admitted to statehood because they believed that it would give them two additional Republican senators. The Democrats favored admitting Alaska to statehood as that would give them two additional Democratic senators. As this produced a stand-off, nothing happened.

But the fact is that had Hawaii been granted statehood, the two senators might have been neither Republicans nor Democrats but Communists. For that lovely Polynesian area has become a pest-hole of Communist infiltration and is controlled by Harry Bridges as though he were governor-general of the satrapy.

It is for this reason that the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has already made a preliminary study of the Hawaiian Islands and is about to hold hearings there. It is to be remembered that Pearl Harbor is situated in the Hawaiian Islands and that they are the first line of defense of continental United States.

The principal sources of Communist strength in Hawaii are the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the United Public Workers. These two unions dominate the economic and public life of the area, including radio stations and other means of communications.

Curiously, the ILWU does not limit itself to longshoremen, but includes agricultural workers in the pineapple and sugar plantations which are the principal industries of the area. The population is mixed, mainly Oriental, with few emotional ties to the United States.

The leader of the ILWU in Hawaii is Jack Hall who was convicted under the Smith Act in 1953. William B. Stephenson, chairman of the Commission on Subversive Activities of the Territory of Hawaii, has stated:

"In speaking of the control which Communist leaders exert in the ILWU, the commission has pointed out that if this control were exercised contrary to the best interests of the United States it could not only bring about economic chaos in Hawaii but could adversely affect the war potential and the national security of the United States.

Moreover, the commission has pointed out that continuing communist control over the ILWU in Hawaii will endanger the national security of the United States in the event of war between this country and the Soviet Union."

The United States Navy apparently has been forced by circumstances to take cognizance of the enormous power of the ILWU, since it has ceased to employ workers of this union at the Pearl Harbor Navy Yard and has organized its own stevedoring service with Civil Service status.

The United Public Workers solicits membership among government employees and the employees of educational institutions and hospitals and related forms of employment. The Hawaiian Commission on Subversive Activities has found that:

"... The United Public Workers was controlled by the Communist party, that the Communist party has exploited the UPW and its membership primarily for Communist purposes, and that in conflicts of interest between the Communist party and the rank and file membership of the union, the Communist interest has prevailed.

"The commission has also stated its opinion that the Communist control of this union presents a potential grave security problem in case of a national emergency, and that this problem has been intensified by the coalition of the communist leadership of the United Public Workers with the Communist leadership of the ILWU."

In a word, the United States government staff in Hawaii is under the control of a union that has been declared Communist-dominated and under leaders, some of whom have been convicted of seeking to overthrow the government of the United States.

When the record is studied, it is evident that it is not a pretty picture at all and that while the United States government was either asleep or buried under a heap of words, the Communists were making the Hawaiian Islands their own bailiwick and that if Hawaii were admitted to statehood, we might even get as United States senators, appointees of the Kremlin or of Red China.

It is bad enough to have erstwhile Communist stooges or converts from such causes in our national legislature but somehow we have managed to avoid an overt Kremlin agent. Even that is possible, via Hawaii.

It is expected that the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee

This season the millions of people who flock through America's retail stores, in search of either holiday gifts or the routine things we buy at all seasons, will be offered an almost bewildering assortment of wares from which to choose. They will see the best and most attractive standards of display, sanitation, advertising and promotion.

They will, with few exceptions, be met by friendly, courteous and helpful sales people. They will — unless their wants are unusual indeed — find exactly what they are looking for.

People would do well to consider what has made all this abundance possible. The most important force in that has been the competitive, free enterprise system, in which no one has a monopoly on anything and in which the rewards go to those who please the public most, and who offer the best value for the dollar.

It is to be noted that the stores of this community are alert to this situation and have made adequate preparation for meeting the Christmas demands.

Christmas Eve Holiday Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has ordered a Christmas Eve holiday for federal employees.

The action gives them a four-day Christmas holiday since Christmas falls on a Tuesday.

The President's memorandum also directed federal executives to adopt "a liberal policy for the granting of annual leave" during the holiday season. The White House pointed out that this means, for example, that many employees who wish may have another long New Year weekend.

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

There has been a lot of talk about how we can protect our food supplies from the hazards of radioactive fallout in the event of an atomic bomb attack.

The simple truth is that most of the food stored in your home probably would be perfectly safe, especially if it is kept in a freezer.

Frozen Foods

Frozen foods probably are the most well-protected. If their packaging was not broken, they would be entirely edible even after an A-bomb attack. They are also protected fairly well from contamination by chemical or biological agents.

The Federal Civil Defense Administration delved into the ability of such foodstuffs to withstand an A-bombing in tests conducted in Nevada.

Sealed cans, the Defense Department says, afford complete protection against radioactive dust, biological organisms, liquids and vapors.

Metal foil and cellophane packaging also provide complete protection — providing the cellophane has been kept dry and all joints are tight.

Ordinary paper containers, the U. S. Public Health Service reports, provide only poor to good protection against these four types of contamination.

However, put any of these foods in a home freezer or commercial freezer warehouse and protection is near perfect.

Contaminating Agents

The nature of home freezing units and commercial warehouses generally is assurance that no known contaminating agents will be able to penetrate to the individual food packages.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Marshal Tito is feeling his oats.

First the Yugoslav president hurled at the Kremlin the label "Stalinist"—a swear word in the Communist world today. At the same time he called on the Russians to grant all the satellites the sort of freedom Yugoslavia years ago won for itself.

Then Tito accused the Kremlin of kidnapping ex-Premier Imre Nagy of Hungary. Nagy and a group of officials were snatched by Russians as they left the Yugoslav Embassy in Budapest.

And what was the Kremlin's reaction to this tough talk from its off-again, on-again friend Tito? The usual name calling and threats of reprisal?

Not Quite. They took six pages of Pravda to defend themselves on the Stalinism and satellite charges. They did ask Tito to lower his voice lest he play into the hands of "imperialist and fascist elements."

And then, most interestingly, they accused Tito—though in fairly mild language — of spreading the idea that "Yugoslavia's path to socialism is the only true and even the only possible path for socialist development in almost all countries."

How times change.

This is just what Tito was charging the Russians with doing when he broke with them during the Stalin regime. Only he was complaining, of course, that it was the Kremlin which was taking the our-way-is-the-only-way line.

Tito himself came up with some interesting thoughts.

He said the Russians were wrong to intervene in the Hungarian revolt. But he adds in the next breath: "If with their intervention they saved socialism in Hungary, it was necessary and all this will one day become positive."

In other words: You shouldn't have done it but if it turns out all right for our side you did the right thing.

Tito was talking about the first clashes in Hungary, at a time when one Communist regime or another would have held power no matter who won.

He holds the Kremlin was dead right, though, in slaughtering Hungarians by the thousands when it looked as if "reactionaries" were moving in.

You can see his reasoning there, even though you deplore it: If Hungary can get away with de-throning a Communist government what's to stop other countries from doing it, too? Yugoslavia, for example.

Unquestionably there's a rift between Belgrade and Moscow. Associated Press correspondent Harold Milks reported from Moscow Sunday night that the Nagy

By Ed Creagh
For James Marlow

affair may have widened the rift "beyond the possibility of immediate reconciliation."

Tito fired a whip-sharp protest to Budapest over Nagy's disappearance.

He sent an almost identical note to Moscow saying he expects the Kremlin to do "everything necessary" to get the safe conduct agreement carried out.

Moscow hasn't replied yet but her answer can hardly be anything other than some form of: Who, me? Tito has made it plain he means: Yes, you. He isn't buying for a minute the Budapest legend that Nagy and his friend scooted off to Romania of their own volition. Outside the ranks of Kremlin supporters, nobody else is buying it, either.

Hunters Blast Farmers' Flock of Tamed Geese, Ducks

Tamed wild geese and ducks are not safe now, even while feeding among the logs within sight of their owner's home and behind a big sign saying: "No Hunting, Private Game Reserve."

R. H. Stoddard reported to Game Protector Dave Krupla Monday morning that five men in a car had fired into his flock of a dozen honkers as they drove along the Snowhill Pike last Thursday. The birds were feeding near the Sugar Creek bridge.

The geese escaped, Stoddard said, but some of the ducks were brought down. Whether any of the ducks were killed is uncertain.

Stoddard said he bought four pairs of wild Canada geese five years ago and several pairs of wild mallards about the same time and put them on his farm which is near the creek. Although they are as free as the air, he said they seldom fly far from home, either winter or summer.

Special Call Of Assembly Costs $5000

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Today's special session of the Ohio Legislature—whether it last an hour or a week—will cost the state treasury "not a penny less than $5,000."

All signs now indicate the session will accomplish nothing.

The over-all estimate was made by House Clerk Carl Guess.

His records show House members are paid just under $5,000 in mileage for a single round trip from their homes to the state capital. Senate Clerk Thomas Bate-man said senators draw "about $800" for a single round trip.

The cost of the session also will include the wages of temporary employees, equipment rental and printing charges.

No salaries for lawmakers are included in the estimate. They are paid whether the Legislature is in session or not. But aside from travel, they must pay their own expenses for hotels, meals and the like.

The average legislator's expense are at least $10 a day. The House, because of deaths and resignations now has 124 members and the Senate 31. For a three-day session, the legislators' personal, out-of-pocket expenses would be $4,650—plus the fact that each will lose three days from his job, business or profession.

Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche called the Republican-controlled General Assembly into special session. He said he will ask for a law giving the governor authority to seize and operate utility companies hit or threatened by service-disrupting strikes.

Legislative leaders of both parties have said both publicly and privately there is little or no chance the assembly will approve such a measure in a brief special session.

Slayer Who 'Never Should Have Been Born' Nears Chair

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today refused to interfere with the scheduled execution tonight of Samuel W. Tannhill, 27, for the bludgeoning slaying of a Fremont waitress.

The governor said after reviewing the first degree murder case with members of his cabinet that he would not prevent Tannhill's execution in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair.

His statement said: "The circumstances and the facts relating to the taking of the life of Shirley Bradford and his general course of conduct throughout his life does not warrant my intervention against the judgment imposed upon him by the courts of our state."

Mercy pleas for Tannhill were based more on sympathy than on legal grounds. The slayer's attorney asserted that Tannhill "never should have been born."

Admittedly a drifter who never held a job more than two or three weeks, Tannhill was convicted of slaying Mrs. Shirley Bradford, 29, May 2, 1955.

Sandusky County prosecutor Thomas F. Dewey said Tannhill kidnaped Mrs. Bradford after she recognized him when he tried to rob the tavern where she worked in Fremont. Tannhill killed her with a tire iron in a remote spot near Fremont.

Taken to Ohio Penitentiary Oct. 17, 1955, Tannhill said: "My life has been a rat race and I look at death as such a beautiful thing."

In the penitentiary, Tannhill said he had become an avid reader of the Bible.

"All my life I've hunted for something and I've found it in the Bible," he said. "It taught me that if a fellow looks off the end of his nose, he finds there is something else. I would say I am 100 per cent prepared for anything."

Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche called the Republican-controlled General Assembly into special session. He said he will ask for a law giving the governor authority to seize and operate utility companies hit or threatened by service-disrupting strikes.

Legislative leaders of both parties have said both publicly and privately there is little or no chance the assembly will approve such a measure in a brief special session.

Slayer Who 'Never Should Have Been Born' Nears Chair

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today refused to interfere with the scheduled execution tonight of Samuel W. Tannhill, 27, for the bludgeoning slaying of a Fremont waitress.

The governor said after reviewing the first degree murder case with members of his cabinet that he would not prevent Tannhill's execution in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair.

His statement said: "The circumstances and the facts relating to the taking of the life of Shirley Bradford and his general course of conduct throughout his life does not warrant my intervention against the judgment imposed upon him by the courts of our state."

Mercy pleas for Tannhill were based more on sympathy than on legal grounds. The slayer's attorney asserted that Tannhill "never should have been born."

Admittedly a drifter who never held a job more than two or three weeks, Tannhill was convicted of slaying Mrs. Shirley Bradford, 29, May 2, 1955.

Sandusky County prosecutor Thomas F. Dewey said Tannhill kidnapped Mrs. Bradford after she recognized him when he tried to rob the tavern where she worked in Fremont. Tannhill killed her with a tire iron in a remote spot near Fremont.

Taken to Ohio Penitentiary Oct. 17, 1955, Tannhill said: "My life has been a rat race and I look at death as such a beautiful thing."

In the penitentiary, Tannhill said he had become an avid reader of the Bible.

"All my life I've hunted for something and I've found it in the Bible," he said. "It taught me that if a fellow looks off the end of his nose, he finds there is something else. I would say I am 100 per cent prepared for anything."

Democratic Chiefs Studying Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National Committee's 11-member executive committee today opened two days of talks on party problems, the most pressing one a campaign deficit of around $1 million.

No steps toward major changes appear in prospect, although George Rock of Colorado, a member of the full committee but not of the executive group, renewed his call for the resignation of chairman Paul Butler.

Butler offered to resign the day after the national convention ended at Chicago in August. He was retained, at the request of Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee.

ON PLANT CARE

We are frequently asked questions on the care of flowers, particularly potted plants.

It should be borne in mind that flowers are, for the most part, individuals. Conditions which favor one plant may be highly detrimental to another plant in bloom at the same time.

There are, however, a few suggestions of rather wide application and some of them have been outlined in booklet. If you follow them, we believe that they will help you in growing hardy, long lasting plants.

COPIES OF THIS BOOKLET ARE AVAILABLE ON REQUEST.

IF YOU ARE SECRETARY OF A GARDEN CLUB AND CARE TO GIVE US A LIST OF YOUR MEMBERS, WE WILL SEE THAT EACH ONE OF THEM RECEIVES A COPY. SIMPLY WRITE OR PHONE -

Bears Holding Slim Edge in Pro Grid Play

Giants Chalk Up Tie Against Chicagoans; Browns Defeated again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If the guy who makes the National Football League schedule had booked all of the Chicago Bears' games in the Windy City and points west, there would be little doubt today about the outcome of the Western Conference scramble.

As it stands, the Bears hold a precarious half game lead over Detroit with a pivotal game to be played next Sunday in the Lions' den.

The Bears managed to deadlock the New York Giants 17-17 Sunday on some excellent pass-catching by end Harlon Hill, who scored twice in the fourth quarter, the last time with less than two minutes to go.

The result snapped the Bears' seven-game winning streak. Four of the triumphs were in Chicago, another against Green Bay in Milwaukee and two on the West Coast. Their lone setback was by the Colts in Baltimore in the season's opener.

Hill's heroics left the Bears with a 7-1-1 record. The Lions, who were idle, are 7-2.

The Giants, Eastern Conference front-runners with a 6-2-1 mark, lost a half game to the runner-up Chicago Cardinals (6-3) who started fast and coasted to a 38-27 victory over visiting Pittsburgh.

The Washington Redskins, now winners of five straight after dropping their first three, stayed right behind Eastern leaders by rallying at Cleveland to edge the Browns 20-17.

The NFL, which hadn't recorded a tie game in its first eight weeks of play, came up with another one at Philadelphia where the Eagles and San Francisco 49ers drew 10-10.

Host Baltimore, the West's third place club evened its record at 4-4 with a blazing 56-21 romp over the Los Angeles Rams (2-7).

If the Giants had been able to contain Hill as well as they did fullback Rick Casares (13 yards in 13 carries) and quarterback Ed Brown (his only big play was a TD pass to Hill), they could have held a 17-3 third quarter lead built on a 17-yard pass play, Don Heinrich to Kyle Rote, Alex Webster's 2-yard plunge and a field goal and two conversions by Ben Agajanian.

The Cards opened up a 24-7 halftime lead largely on the running of Ollie Matson and the passing of quarterback Jim Root.

Steady Eddie LeBaron pitched 26 yards to end Johnny Carson to pull the Redskins from behind in Cleveland. The scoring play came with a minute and a half to play.

A 103-yard kickoff return by the Rams' Tom Wilson was overshadowed by the Colts' all-round play. Baltimore quarterback John Unitas threw three TD strikes and Billy Vessels scored three times.

A 27-yard field goal by Gordy Soltau proved the equalizer for the 49ers. Bobby Walston scored all the Eagles' points.

A roughing the kicker penalty set up a last minute touchdown drive by the Redskins and enabled them to beat the Browns.

The penalty, called against Cleveland's Don Colo when he smashed into punter Sam Baker, gave the Redskins an automatic first down on their own 33. They were trailing 17-13 with time running out.

Seven plays later, Eddie LeBaron tossed a 26-yard touchdown pass to end Johnny Carson. It gave the Redskins their fifth victory in a row, and their second over the Browns this season.

LeBaron, out for several weeks with injuries, had been able to complete only three of 11 tosses until the final drive. Then he completed five in a row to win the game. Carson jumped up and snatched the touchdown toss as he crossed the goal line.

It was a defensive battle in the first half, with Cleveland scoring twice and Washington once.

Norb Hecker put Washington ahead when he picked up Preston Carpenter's fumble and ran 17 yards for a touchdown. Six minutes later, Kenny Konz returned a

Blue Lions Get Set For Opener at Bexley

With the opening game against Bexley only four days away, the WHS basketball squad is practicing hard in an effort to pull together a number of loose ends.

The Blue Lions scrimmaged twice against Grove City last week, and looked good as they outscored their opponents by about 20 points in each game.

Coach Herb Russell is satisfied that his players can shoot well. But he is concerned with loose defensive play and poor rebounding. The team's ball handling and fast breaking also need work, the coach said.

AS THE BLUE LIONS get set to meet Bexley Friday on the latter's court, the starting lineup is still a problem. Tom Swain, a returning letterman, has looked good and scored well at forward, while Larry Milstead has been performing better than expected in his first year on the varsity and has

Heavyweight Title Go Set For Friday

CHICAGO (AP)—The vacated heavyweight title will have a new champion, either its youngest or oldest, when 21-year-old Floyd Patterson of Brooklyn meets ancient Archie Moore of San Diego in a 15-chance match here Friday.

Moore claims he will be 40 on Dec. 13 although the record books say he will be 43. The oldest man ever to grab the "big one" was Joe Walcott who was 37 when he upset Ezzard Charles in 1951.

The International Boxing Club expects 18,000 to pay $250,000 to see the bout with another $200,000 coming from the television network that will carry the fight. Ring "is" 10 p. m. EST.

Despite his age, Moore is an 8 to 5 favorite. Patterson's toughest opponent was Hurricane Jackson whom he outpointed in 12 rounds, June 8 to gain the title shot.

Patterson owns a 30-1 record with 21 knockouts. His only defeat was a disputed eight-round decision by Joey Maxim, former light heavy king, June 7, 1954. Moore's record for 156 starts is 131-20-5 with 90 knockouts.

Both fighters, expressing confidence of victory, begin tapering off in workouts this week.

Patterson will spar today and Tuesday and will confine his drills to gym work Wednesday and Thursday. Moore will rest today, box Tuesday and Wednesday and hold a light workout Thursday.

With the score 7-7, Cleveland's Bob Gain recovered a fumble by Washington's Leo Elter on the Redskins 7 yard line. Maurice Bassett made the touchdown in three plunges, and Cleveland led 14-7 at the half.

been sharing scoring honors with Swain.

Another probable starter guard Dick English, has not yet demonstrated the form that got him on the all-SCO team last year. Russell is keeping his fingers crossed with the hope that the aggressive speedster will find the basket soon.

Ron Knisley, also a returning letterman, probably will see a lot of action as a guard. Knisley is not rugged, but usually turns in a consistent game, scoring well from the outside.

RUSSELL'S biggest problem is who to use in the pivot. Big Jim McWilliams has been trying hard to learn the position, but is hampered by the lack of experience in his first year in organized ball. McWilliams could be good, but he still isn't sure when to shoot or when to pass off, and he lacks aggressiveness.

Bill Southworth, a freshman, has been pressing McWilliams hard for the center spot and may well have it by Friday.

But no matter who gets the starting assignment, the position is bound to be a weak one due to inexperience, and whoever plays the pivot will be learning by trial and error.

The question is whether or not Washington's shooting will be hot enough to offset those weaknesses.

17 Grid Teams Remain Unbeaten

CHICAGO (AP)—Fifteen of the 17 unbeaten-untied teams have completed their college football seasons. Oklahoma and Tennessee, the nation's top-ranked schools, still have one game left to play.

Oklahoma, seeking its 40th consecutive victory, will finish its schedule against Oklahoma A&M Saturday. Tennessee closes against Vanderbilt the same day.

In the Midwest, Central Michigan and Hillsdale closed their seasons with nine straight victories. Milton (Wis.) won six.

Another major college, Wyoming, wound up unbeaten in 10.

They Bagged Deer In Crazy Manner

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—It was a crazy way that William E. Brown and R. E. Smith bagged a deer near here.

In the first place, Brown and Smith weren't even hunting deer. They were duck hunting.

The two men were sitting waiting for ducks when they heard the baying of dogs. Moments later, out of the woods popped the deer with the dogs in hot pursuit.

The deer jumped in the river and drowned. Brown and Smith guided their boat to the scene and pulled the deer out of the water, turned it over to the game warden because it probably wasn't a "fair kill."

Army's 55-46 defeat of Colgate marked the highest number of football points ever scored by two eastern colleges in one game.

College Grid Bowl Picture Still Considered Cloudy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The college football season has almost run its course but the bowl picture is almost as confusing as it was in mid-November.

The Rose Bowl offers the one exception. Iowa and Oregon State captured the Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conference championships and are set there.

Saturday's only contribution toward clarification was the decision that Texas Christian would be the Cotton Bowl host for the second straight year following a tough 20-17 decision over Rice.

It's normal for the Southwest Conference champion to handle the job but league leader Texas A&M, with only a Thursday date with Texas remaining, is ineligible due to NCAA probationary action.

Along with the Aggies, rated No. 4 nationally, top ranked Oklahoma and sixth-rated Miami are out of post-season consideration.

Oklahoma is blocked by the Big Seven Conference ruling against successive appearances in its Orange Bowl tie-up with the Atlantic Coast. Miami is another NCAA "bad boy."

Because Oklahoma can't go, runnerup Colorado will.

Here's the bowl situation at a glance:

Rose: Iowa vs. Oregon State.
Orange: Colorado vs. Clemson.
Duke or South Carolina. Clemson, which clinched the Atlantic Coast Conference title by defeating Virginia 7-0, plays Furman Saturday. Because the Orange Bowl officials were disappointed in the Tigers' 21-0 loss to Miami Nov. 16, the ACC selectors, who need merely choose "the most representative team," are holding back.

Sugar: Tennessee is believed to have a standing invitation but Southeastern Conference rules prohibit official action until the season is complete. Baylor, Georgia Tech and Houston are other top candidates.

Cotton: TCU to oppose a foe which probably will be selected from among Tennessee, Georgia Tech, Syracuse, Navy and Pitt.

Though unbeaten, Tennessee won't be sure of the SEC crown unless the Vols defeat Vanderbilt Saturday. Should they falter, Tech could walk in by whipping Georgia.

Navy plays Army in Philadelphia with a possible Cotton Bowl bid as added incentive. Syracuse concluded its campaign Nov. 17 by walloping Colgate 61-7. Pitt's chances faded a little in a concluding 7-7 tie with Penn State.

Baylor remains a strong contender for the Sugar Bowl with troublesome Rice still to play. Candidate Houston finishes up against weak Detroit.

Madison Mills, Jeff Play Tuesday

The Jeffersonville Tigers, hot scorers in their last two games, go to Clarksville Tuesday night in an effort to better their record of three wins and one loss. The Jeffs have scored 80 and 83 points in winning their last two.

At the same time, Madison Mills will be playing at Mount Sterling. The Warriors have been less fortunate than the Jeffs this year, with an exactly opposite record of one win and three losses. Two of the Madison Mills defeats have been by two and three point margins.

Purdue Fullback Sets Big Ten Pace

CHICAGO (AP)—Mel Dillard, Purdue fullback, won the Big Ten scoring title by powering across three touchdowns in the season finale against Indiana.

Dillard finished with eight touchdowns and 48 points while five other players ended in a tie for second place with seven touchdowns and 42 points.

Tied for second were Dennis Mendyk, Michigan State; Jim Roseboro and Don Clark, Ohio State; and John Herrstein and Terry Barr, Michigan.

War Dog Found To Be Gun-Shy

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Two hunters are hunting the hunting dog that went over the hill.

The first shot unstrung the dog, named Yo-Yo, and he headed into the hills at high speed.

Yank Track Stars Pick Up More Olympic Gold Medals

MELBOURNE (AP)—A superhuman effort by Tom Courtney in the 800 meter run and an amazing pole vault by the Rev. Bob Richards gave the United States two more gold medals in track and field today and Denmark's Emil Denielsen speared a new world's record in the javelin.

Yale's comeback eight and Jack Kelly, Jr. led a parade of six American rowing entries into Tuesday's finals and the American weight lifters moved everything but the Olympic Stadium.

Bobby Morrow, gunning for a 100-200-meter "double" breezed through two heats into the semifinals along with teammates Thane Baker of Elkhart, Kan., and Andy Stanfield, the 1952... champ from Jersey City, N. J. Although Morrow, the flash from Abilene Christian College pulled a thigh muscle, he is expected to be all right for Tuesday's races.

Failure of Cy Young to repeat in the javelin toss was a major disappointment to the American team after the giant rancher from Modesto, Calif., had broken the Olympic mark in the qualifying round. All three of Uncle Sam's men failed to make the final.

Even before the night weight lifting events were completed, the U. S. team had picked up 49 more points and the Russians had added only nine to increase the U.S. lead in the unofficial point total over the Soviets to 157-97.

Courtney, husky former Fordham half miler from Livingston, N. J. outfought Great Britain's Derek Johnson in the straight-away after Johnson forged into the lead around the last turn. The two great runners with Audun Boysen of Norway and Pitt's Arnie Sowell, the early leader in hot pursuit, battled right up to the tape. Courtney finally won by a yard in new Olympic record time of one minute 47.7 seconds and virtually collapsed.

Sowell, who has battled Courtney in so many races, finished fourth after setting the early pace.

American Cagers Tag Brazilians as Tough Competition

MELBOURNE (AP)—American basketball players rate Brazil as the best team in the Olympic tournament (outside the yanks themselves of course) with France probably next and Russia following.

"The Brazilians are big and fast and play a lot like us," says San Francisco's K. C. Jones. "They can't beat us, but they can make it tough. The Russians play hard and are in good shape, but lack finesse."

The U. S. entry remained undefeated by overwhelming the Philippines, 121-53 today.

Bob Jeangerard of Wilmette, Ill., a former Colorado ace, topped the scoring with 21 points, a one-game high for the Yanks in the tourney.

Joe Kubisty, Buffalo University senior, passed to five touchdowns when the Bulls beat Bucknell, 31-13.

The first four men broke Mel Whitfield's old olympic mark. Lon Spurrier, of Delano, Calif., the other U. S. entry, was sixth.

Richards, the vaulting parson from La Verne, Calif., successfully defended the championship he won at Helsinki in 1952 by defying a gusty wind and calling on all his strength and luck. He cleared 4.56 meters or 14 feet, 11 1/4 inches for another Olympic record. On the way down, he hit the crossbar. It bounced vigorously but stayed in place.

Bob Gutowski of La Jolla, Calif., listed as an alternate until an injury forced Jim Graham of Tulsa to withdraw, was second to Richards and George Mattofs of Santa Cruz, Cal. was fourth. George Roubanis of Greece and UCLA took third place.

The outstanding performance of the day was Danielson's javelin throw of 85.71 meters or 281 feet 2 1/4 inches. It also was a new Olympic mark.

Betty Guthbert of Australia brought joy to the capacity throng of 100,000 by winning the women's 100-meters for the host nation's first gold medal. Isabelle Daniels of Jakin, Ga., the 19-year-old American finalist, was fourth.

After three full days of competition the United States has seven gold medals in track, equalling the hot pace of 1952. The Americans have won one event they did not score in at Helsinki, the hammer throw, and lost one that was won there, the javelin.

Bears Holding Slim Edge in Pro Grid Play

Giants Chalk Up Tie Against Chicagoans; Browns Defeated again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If the guy who makes the National Football League schedule had booked all of the Chicago Bears' games in the Windy City and points west, there would be little doubt today about the outcome of the Western Conference scramble.

As it stands, the Bears hold a precarious half game lead over Detroit with a pivotal game to be played next Sunday in the Lions' den.

The Bears managed to deadlock the New York Giants 17-17 Sunday on some excellent pass-catching by end Harlon Hill, who scored twice in the fourth quarter, the last time with less than two minutes to go.

The result snapped the Bears' seven-game winning streak. Four of the triumphs were in Chicago, another against Green Bay in Milwaukee and two on the West Coast. Their lone setback was by the Colts in Baltimore in the season's opener.

Hill's heroics left the Bears with a 7-1-1 record. The Lions, who were idle, are 7-2.

The Giants, Eastern Conference front-runners with a 6-2-1 mark, lost a half game to the runner-up Chicago Cardinals (6-3) who started fast and coasted to a 38-27 victory over visiting Pittsburgh.

The Washington Redskins, now winners of five straight after dropping their first three, stayed right behind Eastern leaders by rallying at Cleveland to edge the Browns 20-17.

The NFL, which hadn't recorded a tie game in its first eight weeks of play, came up with another one at Philadelphia where the Eagles and San Francisco 49ers drew 10-10.

Host Baltimore, the West's third place club evened its record at 4-4 with a blazing 56-21 romp over the Los Angeles Rams (2-7).

If the Giants had been able to contain Hill as well as they did fullback Rick Casares (13 yards in 13 carries) and quarterback Ed Brown (his only big play was a TD pass to Hill), they could have held a 17-3 third quarter lead built on a 17-yard pass play, Don Heinrich to Kyle Rote, Alex Webster's 2-yard plunge and a field goal and two conversions by Ben Agajanian.

The Cards opened up a 24-7 halftime lead largely on the running of Ollie Matson and the passing of quarterback Jim Root.

Steady Eddie LeBaron pitched 26 yards to end Johnny Carson to pull the Redskins from behind in Cleveland. The scoring play came with a minute and a half to play.

A 103-yard kickoff return by the Rams' Tom Wilson was overshadowed by the Colts' all-round play. Baltimore quarterback John Unitas threw three TD strikes and Billy Vessels scored three times.

A 27-yard field goal by Gordy Soltau proved the equalizer for the 49ers. Bobby Walston scored all the Eagles' points.

A roughing the kicker penalty set up a last minute touchdown drive by the Redskins and enabled them to beat the Browns.

The penalty, called against Cleveland's Don Colo when he smashed into punter Sam Baker, gave the Redskins an automatic first down on their own 33. They were trailing 17-13 with time running out.

Seven plays later, Eddie LeBaron tossed a 26-yard touchdown pass to end Johnny Carson. It gave the Redskins their fifth victory in a row, and their second over the Browns this season.

LeBaron, out for several weeks with injuries, had been able to complete only three of 11 tosses until the final drive. Then he completed five in a row to win the game. Carson jumped up and snarled the touchdown toss as he crossed the goal line.

It was a defensive battle in the first half, with Cleveland scoring twice and Washington once.

Norb Hecker put Washington ahead when he picked up Preston Carpenter's fumble and ran 17 yards for a touchdown. Six minutes later, Kenny Konz returned a

Blue Lions Get Set For Opener at Bexley

With the opening game against Bexley only four days away, the WHS basketball squad is practicing hard in an effort to pull together a number of loose ends.

The Blue Lions scrimmaged twice against Grove City last week, and looked good as they outscored their opponents by about 20 points in each game.

Coach Herb Russell is satisfied that his players can shoot well. But he is concerned with loose defensive play and poor rebounding. The team's ball handling and fast breaking also need work, the coach said.

AS THE BLUE LIONS get set to meet Bexley Friday on the latter's court, the starting lineup is still a problem. Tom Swain, a returning letterman, has looked good and scored well at forward, while Larry Milstead has been performing better than expected in his first year on the varsity and has

CHICAGO (AP)—The vacated heavyweight title will have a new champion, either its youngest or oldest, when 21-year-old Floyd Patterson of Brooklyn meets ancient Archie Moore of San Diego in a 15-round match here Friday.

Moore claims he will be 40 on Dec. 13 although the record books say he will be 43. The oldest man ever to grab the "big one" was Joe Walcott who was 37 when he upset Ezzard Charles in 1951.

The International Boxing Club expects 18,000 to pay $250,000 to see the bout with another $200,000 coming from the television network that will carry the fight. Ring time is 10 p. m. EST.

Despite his age, Moore is an 8 to 5 favorite. Patterson's toughest opponent was Hurricane Jackson whom he outpointed in 12 rounds, June 8 to gain the title shot.

Patterson owns a 30-1 record with 21 knockouts. His only defeat was a disputed eight-round decision by Joey Maxim, former light heavyweight king, June 7, 1954. Moore's record for 156 starts is 131-20-5 with 90 knockouts.

Both fighters, expressing confidence of victory, begin tapering off in workouts this week.

Patterson will spar today and Tuesday and will confine his drills to gym work Wednesday and Thursday. Moore will rest today, box Tuesday and Wednesday and hold a light workout Thursday.

punt 65 yards for a Cleveland touchdown.

With the score 7-7, Cleveland's Bob Gain recovered a fumble by Washington's Leo Elter on the Redskins 7 yard line. Maurice Basset made the touchdown in three plunges, and Cleveland led 14-7 at the half.

Two field goals by Baker in the third quarter made it 14-13, but Lou Groza bottled a 42-yarder midway in the final period to give Cleveland a 17-13 lead.

been sharing scoring honors with Swain.

Another probable starter guard Dick English, has not yet demonstrated the form that got him on the all-SCO team last year. Russell is keeping his fingers crossed with the hope that the aggressive speedster will find the basket soon.

Ron Knisley, also a returning letterman, probably will see a lot of action as a guard. Knisley is not rugged, but usually turns in a consistent game, scoring well from the outside.

RUSSELL'S biggest problem is who to use in the pivot. Big Jim McWilliams has been trying hard to learn the position, but is hampered by the lack of experience in his first year in organized ball. McWilliams could be good, but he still isn't sure when to shoot or when to pass off, and he lacks aggressiveness.

Bill Southworth, a freshman, has been pressing McWilliams hard for the center spot and may well have it by Friday.

But no matter who gets the starting assignment, the position is bound to be a weak one due to inexperience, and whoever plays the pivot will be learning by trial and error.

The question is whether or not Washington's shooting will be hot enough to offset those weaknesses.

17 Grid Teams Remain Unbeaten

CHICAGO (AP)—Fifteen of the 17 unbeaten-united teams have completed their college football seasons. Oklahoma and Tennessee, the nation's top-ranked schools, still have one game left to play.

Oklahoma, seeking its 40th consecutive victory, will finish its schedule against Oklahoma A&M Saturday. Tennessee closes against Vanderbilt the same day.

In the Midwest, Central Michigan and Hillsdale closed their seasons with nine straight victories. Milton (Wis.) won six.

Another major college, Wyoming, wound up unbeaten in 10.

They Bagged Deer In Crazy Manner

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—It was a crazy way that William E. Brown and R. E. Smith bagged a deer near here.

In the first place, Brown and Smith weren't even hunting deer. They were duck hunting.

The two men were sitting waiting for ducks when they heard the baying of dogs. Moments later, out of the woods popped the deer with the dogs in hot pursuit.

The deer jumped in the river and drowned. Brown and Smith guided their boat to the scene and pulled the deer out of the water, turned it over to the game warden because it probably wasn't a "fair kill."

Army's 55-46 defeat of Colgate marked the highest number of football points ever scored by two eastern colleges in one game.

College Grid Bowl Picture Still Considered Cloudy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The college football season has almost run its course but the bowl picture is almost as confusing as it was in mid-November.

The Rose Bowl offers the one exception. Iowa and Oregon State captured the Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conference championships and are set there.

Saturday's only contribution toward clarification was the decision that Texas Christian would be the Cotton Bowl host for the second straight year following a tough 20-17 decision over Rice.

It's normal for the Southwest Conference champion to handle the job but league leader Texas A&M, with only a Thursday date with Texas remaining, is ineligible due to NCAA probationary action.

Along with the Aggies, rated No. 4 nationally, top ranked Oklahoma and sixth-rated Miami are out of post-season consideration.

Oklahoma is blocked by the Big Seven Conference ruling against successive appearances in its Orange Bowl tie-up with the Atlantic Coast. Miami is another NCAA "bad boy."

Because Oklahoma can't go, runnerup Colorado will.

Here's the bowl situation at a glance:

Rose: Iowa vs. Oregon State. Orange: Colorado vs. Clemson, Duke or South Carolina. Clemson, which clinched the Atlantic Coast Conference title by defeating Virginia 7-0, plays Furman Saturday.

Because the Orange Bowl officials were disappointed in the Tigers' 21-0 loss to Miami Nov. 16, the ACC selectors, who need merely choose "the most representative team," are holding back.

Sugar: Tennessee is believed to have a standing invitation but Southeastern Conference rules prohibit official action until the season is complete. Baylor, Georgia Tech and Houston are other top candidates.

Cotton: TCU to oppose a foe which probably will be selected from among Tennessee, Georgia Tech, Syracuse, Navy and Pitt.

Though unbeaten, Tennessee won't be sure of the SEC crown unless the Vols defeat Vanderbilt Saturday. Should they falter, Tech could walk in by whipping Georgia.

Navy plays Army in Philadelphia with a possible Cotton Bowl bid as added incentive. Syracuse concluded its campaign Nov. 17 by walloping Colgate 61-7. Pitt's chances faded a little in a concluding 7-7 tie with Penn State.

Baylor remains a strong contender for the Sugar Bowl with troublesome Rice still to play. Candidate Houston finishes up against weak Detroit.

Madison Mills, Jeff Play Tuesday

The Jeffersonville Tigers, hot scorers in their last two games, go to Clarksville Tuesday night in an effort to better their record of three wins and one loss. The Jeffs have scored 80 and 83 points in winning their last two.

At the same time, Madison Mills will be playing at Mount Sterling. The Warriors have been less fortunate than the Jeffs this year, with an exactly opposite record of one win and three losses. Two of the Madison Mills defeats have been by two and three point margins.

Purdue Fullback Sets Big Ten Pace

CHICAGO (AP)—Mel Dillard, Purdue fullback, won the Big Ten scoring title by powering across three touchdowns in the season finale against Indiana.

Dillard finished with eight touchdowns and 48 points while five other players ended in a tie for second place with seven touchdowns and 42 points.

Tied for second were Dennis Mendyk, Michigan State; Jim Roseboro and Don Clark, Ohio State; and John Herrinstein and Terry Barr, Michigan.

War Dog Found To Be Gun-Shy

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Two hunters are hunting the hunting dog that went over the hill.

Frank Grove Jr. of Santa Ana and James Haselton of Garden Grove borrowed an elderly Labrador retriever from Haselton's sister for a quail hunt.

The first shot unstrung the dog, named Yo-Yo, and he headed into the hills at high speed.

Yank Track Stars Pick Up More Olympic Gold Medals

MELBOURNE (AP)—A superhuman effort by Tom Courtney in the 800 meter run and an amazing pole vault by the Rev. Bob Richards gave the United States two more gold medals in track and field today and Denmark's Emil Danielsen speared a new world's record in the javelin.

Yale's comeback eight and Jack Kelly, Jr. led a parade of six American rowing entries into Tuesday's finals and the American weight lifters moved everything but the Olympic Stadium.

Bobby Morrow, gunning for a 100-200-meter "double" breezed through two heats into the semifinals along with teammates Thane Baker of Elkhart, Kan., and Andy Stanfield, the 1952...

champion from Jersey City, N. J. Although Morrow, the flash from Abilene Christian College pulled a thigh muscle, he is expected to be all right for Tuesday's races.

Failure of Cy Young to repeat in the javelin toss was a major disappointment to the American team after the giant rancher from Modesto, Calif., had broken the Olympic mark in the qualifying round. All three of Uncle Sam's men failed to make the final.

Even before the night weight lifting events were completed, the U. S. team had picked up 49 more points and the Russians had added only nine to increase the U.S. lead in the unofficial point total over the Soviets to 157-97.

Courtney, husky former Fordham half miler from Livingston, N. J. outgave Great Britain's Derek Johnson in the straightaway after Johnson forged into the lead around the last turn. The two great runners with Audun Boysen of Norway and Pitt's Arnie Sowell, the early leader in hot pursuit, battled right up to the tape. Courtney finally won by a yard in new Olympic record time of one minute 47.7 seconds and virtually collapsed.

Sowell, who has battled Courtney in so many races, finished fourth after setting the early pace.

American Cagers Tag Brazilians as Tough Competition

MELBOURNE (AP)—American basketball players rate Brazil as the best team in the Olympic tournament (outside the yanks themselves of course) with France probably next and Russia following.

"The Brazilians are big and fast and play a lot like us," says San Francisco's K. C. Jones. "They can't beat us, but they can make it tough. The Russians play hard and are in good shape, but lack finesse."

The U. S. entry remained undefeated by overwhelming the Philippines, 121-53 today.

Bob Jeangerard of Wilmette, Ill. a former Colorado ace, topped the scoring with 21 points, a one-game high for the Yanks in the tourney.

Joe Kubisty, Buffalo University senior, passed to five touchdowns when the Bulls beat Bucknell, 31-13.

The first four men broke Mel Whitfield's old olympic mark. Lon Spurrier, of Delano, Calif., the other U. S. entry, was sixth.

Richards, the vaulting parson from La Verne, Calif., successfully defended the championship he won at Helsinki in 1952 by defying a gusty wind and calling on all his strength and luck. He cleared 4.58 meters or 14 feet, 11 1/4 inches for another Olympic record. On the way down, he hit the crossbar. It bounced vigorously but stayed in place.

Bob Gutowski of La Jolla, Calif., listed as an alternate until an injury forced Jim Graham of Tulsa to withdraw, was second to Richards and George Matto of Santa Cruz, Cal. was fourth. George Roubanis of Greece and UCLA took third place.

The outstanding performance of the day was Danielsen's javelin throw of 85.71 meters or 281 feet 2 1/4 inches. It also was a new Olympic mark.

Betty Cuthbert of Australia brought joy to the capacity throng of 100,000 by winning the women's 100-meters for the host nation's first gold medal. Isabelle Daniels of Jakin, Ga., the 19-year-old American finalist, was fourth.

After three full days of competition the United States has seven gold medals in track, equalling the hot pace of 1952. The Americans have won one event they did not score in at Helsinki, the hammer throw, and lost one that was won there, the javelin.

GOP Wonders If It Can Hold Negro Vote Gains in Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thousands of Negroes in Ohio's big cities deserted the Democrats and voted for President Eisenhower this year, figures gathered by the Republican National Committee show.

In varying degrees, this was true, according to the GOP statistics, in Cleveland, Massillon, Canton, Zanesville, Toledo, Akron, Middletown, Dayton, Columbus, Youngstown and Cincinnati.

Now the question is: Can the Republicans hold this vote in future elections without the magic name of Eisenhower on the ticket?

Val Washington, a Negro, head of minority activities for the Republican National Committee, has a quick answer:

"Yes, especially if the new Democratic Congress doesn't do anything about civil rights."

Washington goes to the pile of GOP statistics to back up his contention that Negroes in Ohio—as in other industrialized states—went big for Eisenhower.

Nor was the switch of these votes to the GOP confined to Eisenhower, he says. In many congressional races, he contends, the same trend prevailed.

To some extent, there are Democrats who will agree that Washington has some valid points. One is Elmer Henderson, a Negro who traveled on Adlai Stevenson's campaign trips.

Henderson says he is willing to accept Washington's figures on the Negro shift to Eisenhower. But he adds that while the President made big gains, he still was unable to get a majority of Negroes in many Ohio cities.

"Unfortunately," he says, "I think events in the South in the last few years—the riots and the southern manifesto against the Supreme Court decision—hurt us among Negroes more than Eisenhower's personality."

But Henderson insists: there is a good reason to believe that the Democratic congress will do something about civil rights. That, he says, will bring the Negroes back to his party.

Furthermore, he says, a senatorial candidate like Gov. Frank J. Lausche, holding what Henderson describes as a "good" civil rights record, will draw a majority of Negro votes.

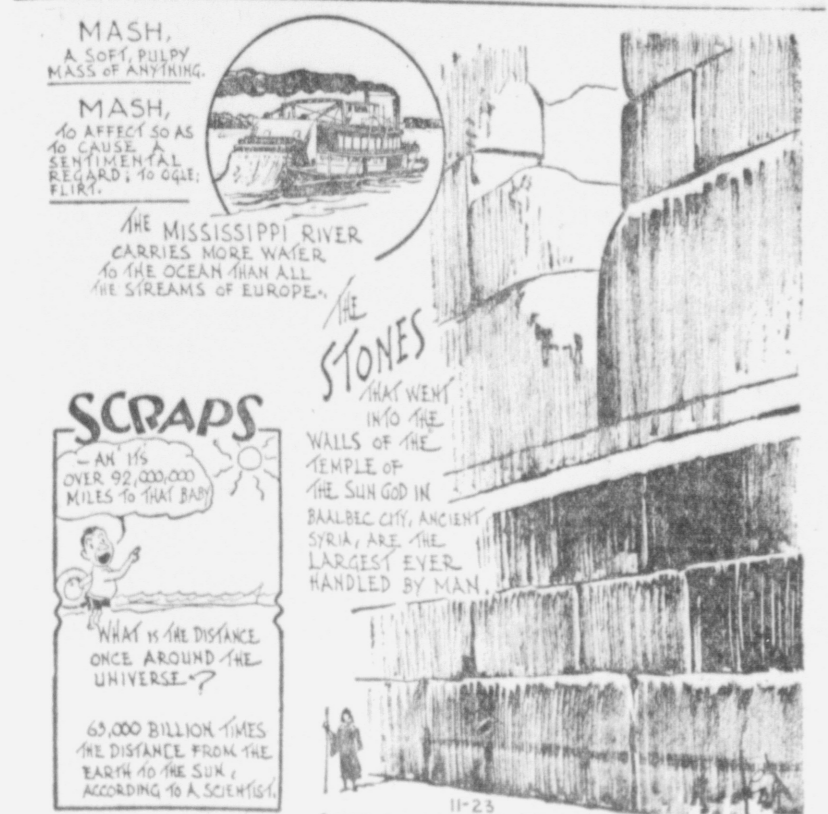

Here are the Republican figures on the Negro vote in some Ohio cities:

Columbus — Eisenhower, "in strictly colored wards," lost to Stevenson in 1952 by 5,150 votes.

In 1956 Ike won in the same wards by 56 votes.

Cleveland — Ike gained 8 per cent in three Negro wards, 25 per cent in three others, and an out and out victory in another. Democrats said Eisenhower still couldn't get a majority of Negroes in Cleveland.

Massillon — A 15.6 per cent gain for the President.

Two WHS Students To Attend Youth Traffic Safety Meet

This is "Ohio Youth Traffic Safety Week," and both City Manager James F. Parkinson and Sheriff Orland Hays are urging cooperation on the part of all drivers.

In connection with the observance, Gov. Frank J. Lausche issued a proclamation urging all people throughout the state "to exercise courtesy and caution in their driving and walking in that we may reemphasize the importance of personal responsibility in the reduction of traffic accidents."

At the same time, John Trace, Washington High School principal, has announced that Susan Dray, 443 E. Court St., and Jo Rhoades, 332 Sixth St., have been selected as the school's delegates to the first statewide Youth Traffic Safety Conference Friday and Saturday at Veterans Memorial Building in Columbus.

Susan, a senior has been active on the Sunburst Staff, Junior and Senior Y-Teens, Future Nurses of America, Future Teachers of America, the band, and 4-H clubs. Jo, a junior, has participated in Junior and Senior Y-Teens, Future Teachers of America, the Library Club, 4-H clubs and Youth Fellowship, and has been a delegate to the Farm Bureau Safety Convention.

The theme of the conference will be "Youth Looks to a Safer Tomorrow," and each delegate will participate in two group discussions on subjects such as: "The Organization and Projects of a Youth Traffic Council," "Organizations and Contests, such as Junior Automobile Clubs, Teenage Traffic Court, Hot Rod Clubs, etc."

FBI Aide Says Red Cells in U. S. Colleges

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An Ohioan who became a Communist at FBI suggestion while studying at the University of Cincinnati said Sunday he thinks American colleges have red cells.

Robert E. Sullivan, 33, now a Pittsburgh steel plant worker, said he headed a sociology club at UC. He said, "I believe there are Communist cells in most major universities, but their effectiveness has been lessened by the efforts of Senate investigating committees and prosecution under the Smith Act."

Sullivan's undercover role was disclosed last week in Chicago when he testified that he and former labor leader J. J. Kilian, 30, were Communist cell members at the University of Wisconsin in 1949, when Sullivan was a graduate student.

Kilian is on trial on charges of falsely swearing he never was a Communist.

Sullivan said he deliberated at length in 1948 when the FBI suggested he become a Communist while at UC, but decided to accept "to do an important job for the United States."

Sullivan, a native of Cincinnati, said his first step was to stop in at the Communist party office and tell them he was interested in the organization.

"They gave me Marxist literature and I began to attend Progressive party meetings in the city. I was finally accepted in September, 1948."

Marine Aviation Branch Open For Enlistments

An opportunity to enlist in the Marine Corps aviation branch is now offered to young men between the ages of 17 and 28 years, according to T.Sgt. Edward D. Aiton who plans to be at the American Legion Hall every Tuesday from 9 a. m. until 3 p. m. to answer questions and explain the program.

He said that men enlisting in this program are guaranteed assignment to an aviation school after they complete their basic training.

After completion of this training, the new Marine is assigned to duty with an aviation unit of the Marine Corps. There he will put his newly acquired knowledge to work under eyes of veteran technicians.

Weather Gets Blame for Auto Mishaps

Snow, drizzle and generally nasty driving conditions have taken their toll of automobile fenders and headlights in Fayette County for the last four days. Most of the accidents have been classed as minor.

Added to a half dozen fender-bending mishaps reported to police last week and at least that many more investigated by the sheriff's department and State Highway Patrol, were two additional accidents Sunday and Monday.

Doland E. Osborne, 1327 Forest St., reported Sunday night to police that his car had been hit while parked at the curb at 819 Lakeview Ave. Damage to the hood, grill and front fenders was estimated at $100.

Monday at 8:15 a. m. a car driven by Shirley Sue Miller, 19, Yellow Springs, was hit from the rear by a car driven by William Ray Yount, 68, Dayton, while Miss Miller was stopped on the Dayton Ave. bridge waiting for a train to clear the crossing.

Patrolman John Dilley, said Yount's car slid on the ice on the bridge when he attempted to stop.

Both cars were damaged, but not so extensively that they could not be driven away.

Now that good weather has abated in favor of winter's cold and snow, police are getting prepared to look for missing sleds instead of stolen bicycles. The first report of a missing sled came Monday from Mrs. L. F. Everhart, 430 N. North St.

Joseph Huff, 87, Dies Early Monday

Joseph Huff, 87, retired Bloomington ditch contractor, died at 2 a. m. Monday in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted a week ago.

Mr. Huff, a lifelong resident of Fayette County, had been ill two years.

Never married, he is survived by three brothers, Thomas, of Bloomington, Albert, of Xenia, and Scott, of Bookwalter; two sisters, Mrs. Catherine Stuhard, of London, and Mrs. Sarah Loveless, of Jeffersonville.

Services will be at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home here, with the Rev. Herbert Ricketts, pastor of the Bloomington Methodist Church, in charge. Burial will be in Range Township Cemetery, Sedalia.

Friends may call at the funeral home after noon Tuesday.

As Firemen Tour, 40 Houses Levelled

TOKUSHIMA, Japan (AP) — All 14 fire engines of this city went to rural villages today to demonstrate how to extinguish a fire.

A real fire started and gutted 40 houses in the city before the engines could get back.

Both masts on the U. S. S. Saratoga are hinged so that it can pass beneath the Brooklyn Bridge.

Songfest Held At Rural Home

The first songfest since last May was held Friday night at the Roy Wipert home west on the CCC highway.

The group, smaller than usual because of cold weather, participated in folk music and group singing.

Special guests included Mrs. Dorothy Wilson, Columbus, a guest of Mrs. Jeannette Lindsey, and Lt. and Mrs. Elmer Pulver and daughter, Lisa, Lt. Pulver, who is on leave waiting reassignment, sang "Daisy Mae".

WILLIAM A. HAINES, agriculture teacher at Jeffersonville High School, outlined a plan to lease 23 acres of land on the Wentz Rd. from Rollo Marchant for a period of one year. The Farm Management Class at Jeffersonville would conduct a general farming program on the land and all funds from the program would go into the Future Farmers of America treasury of Jeffersonville High School.

After considering the plan in detail, the board approved and signed the lease.

Haines also outlined a plan for an adult advisory council to assist him in planning a "Young Farmer" and an "Adult Farmer" program. The board approved the idea, but since plans had not yet been completed there was no immediate appointment of council personnel.
